

LATEST SCHEME FOR CHANGE IN THE LINES OF THE COUNTY

Proposition Broached to Add East Liverpool and Wellsville to Jefferson.

PROMOTER AT STEUBENVILLE

Came From This City, But Got No Substantial Encouragement.

A PRACTICAL IMPOSSIBILITY

Is the Project in the Opinion of Judge Cook, Who Formerly Lived in This County—Nothing Likely to Come of the Talk.

Steubenville, June 9.—(Special)—The latest scheme for changing the county lines of Columbiana county comes from East Liverpool. It is nothing less than a proposition that Columbiana donate the best part of its territory to Jefferson.

Briefly, it's proposed to set off to Jefferson county a portion of Columbiana, small in territory, yet the most populous and valuable which the county contains—in other words, to make East Liverpool and Wellsville Jefferson county cities.

Alluring as is the prospect held out, and glad as Jefferson county would be to see it realized, it cannot be said that the project has received any serious or substantial encouragement here, the people of Steubenville looking upon it as utterly chimerical and impossible of realization.

H. W. Smith, of East Liverpool is either the promoter or the accredited agent of the fathers of the scheme. Lately he spent some time here boozing the project. Naturally the idea was favorably received, though doubt was expressed by every well posted man who was consulted upon it as to its practicability.

Whom Mr. Smith represents besides himself is not very plain. In conversation with leading citizens here he is said to have mentioned the name of one prominent and wealthy citizen of East Liverpool as backing the project, and one only. He is also credited with the statement that ex-Judge P. M. Smith, of Wellsville, is in favor of the proposed change, and willing to do what he can to bring Wellsville and its people into line for it.

One of the first persons approached by Mr. Smith while here was Hon. John M. Cook, circuit judge, a former resident of Columbiana county, where his friends are numerous. He told Mr. Smith that the project was impossible of realization. In order to change county lines a majority of the people of the district affected must vote in favor of the change, and a majority of the people of Columbiana county would never vote to give their best and wealthiest territory to another county. He said: "I have known of the project for some days. Everybody in Steubenville and Jefferson county would favor it, if it were practical. The business men of the two cities, whom I know personally, are men of sagacity and business enterprise who have few equals. The citizens generally are intelligent and industrious, and would be valuable additions to our population. East Liverpool and Wellsville would double our Republican majority in the county, and we would certainly welcome them, if they desired to come. But I fear there are too many obstacles in the way."

Hon. R. G. Richards, common pleas judge, said he regarded the proposition very favorably. He predicted that in a few years there would be a continuous city from Mingo to East Liverpool, and pointed out the advantage of having the territory united. Bunker D. J. Sinclair, County Commissioner William M. Kerr, County Commissioner Cass M. Brown, D. W. Beall, a wholesale merchant; J. W. Gill, of the Acme glass works; Bunker H. G. Dohrman, W. McD. Miller, attorney for the Steubenville Light and Traction company, were all approached by the News Review correspondent. Very few of them had heard of the scheme until it was unfolded to them by the reporter. They were in favor of it, though a number of them, like Judge Cook, doubted its practicability.

Altogether it cannot be said that the visit of the promoter of this city is likely to be productive of any concert movement, or of anything more than talk. The reason the proposed change is desired by anybody in East Liverpool and Wellsville, as far as could be learned by those with whom the agent talked while here, is nothing more than the inconvenience of getting from the southern end of Columbiana county to the county seat by railroad. It is hardly likely that county lines will be changed to accommodate the few who make frequent trips to Lisbon, and Jefferson county is not founded on the scheme any high hopes of additions to its population, but looking for them through natural growth and development of its industries.

SWINDLING SCHEME

Clever Solicitors Tried to Work a New Game in East Liverpool Without Success.

During the past week several young strangers for a new business made a canvass of this city. They claimed that for $1 a month a person's clothes would be cleaned, pressed, kept in good condition and all that sort of thing. In fact, the solicitor claimed that he would call for and deliver all work.

From Cleveland comes the story that United States officers and the police of the country generally have commenced a hunt for two clever and accomplished gentlemen who have, within the past six weeks, relieved Cleveland citizens of something like $2,000, Pittsburgh residents of between $4,000 and $5,000, and the inhabitants of a dozen other cities of amounts that can only be guessed at, all without having, as yet, attempted to return value received.

These men claim to be representatives of the National Wardrobe company, but while in this city they secured little if any business. The representatives when they called upon an intended customer held a large bunch of contract cards in their hands, but these were not readily signed here. The men asked that all money be paid in advance, but it is supposed that they have left the city, as they have not been seen recently.

The scheme is described as one of the largest swindling games that has been worked in the country for a long time.

SINGLE TAXERS

Hold a Convention at Columbus And Report Progress in Ohio.

Columbus, June 9.—(Special)—The Single Taxers, of Ohio, about 100 strong, held their sixth annual conference in Columbus Sunday. "Uncle" Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, prominent as a propagandist of the single tax, is president of the league and was one of the speakers. "Uncle" Billy is gifted with a rare sense of humor and always amuses his auditors. The conference elected him to serve as president for another term.

Major Tom Johnson, of Cleveland, was invited, but he did not come. His ideas on the single tax question were endorsed by the league. The work of the league for last year was reported satisfactory.

RUMORS OF PEACE

In the Miners' Strike Revived by a Conference Between Mitchell and Wright.

Wilkesbarre, June 9.—(Special)—President Mitchell left here today for New York, where he will meet Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, at the Manhattan hotel. He expects to return to this city tomorrow morning. He went at the request of Mr. Wright, with whom he was in communication today.

Rumors of peace were revived, and for a while they flew thick and fast.

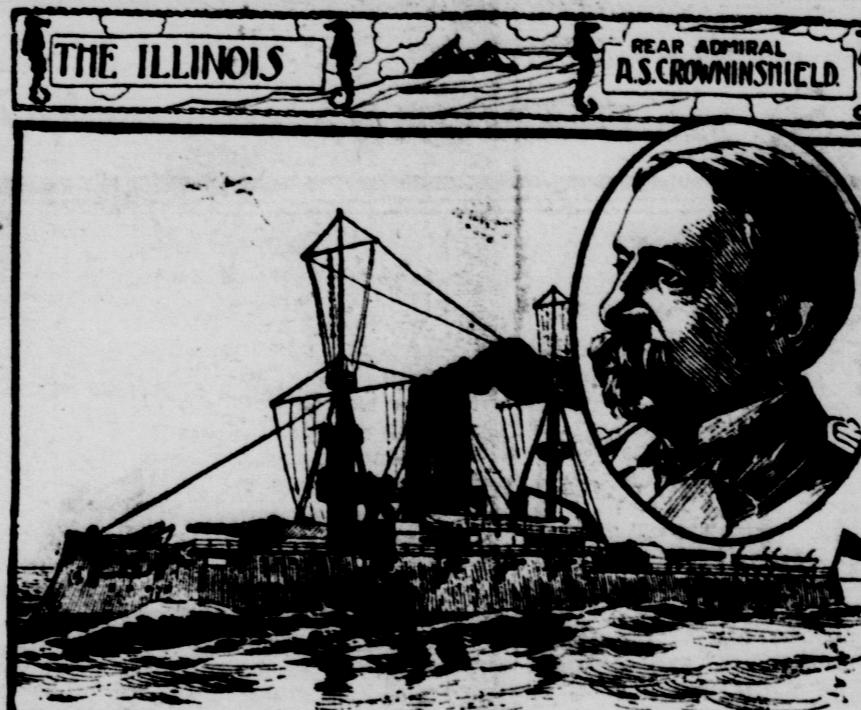

Mr. Wright, it is believed, will directly represent President Roosevelt.

ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Begun by a Lisbon Woman Whose Husband Has Left Her.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—Mrs. Mame Sloss, of Lisbon, has instituted an action for divorce against Charles Sloss. They have been married six years, and she claims that he left her five years ago, and since then she has been living with her parents, who have supported her and her six year old child.

She asks for the custody of her child and that her maiden name be restored. Sloss is a painter, and his present whereabouts are unknown.

REUNION IN STEUBENVILLE

Next Year—The Visitors Had a Wet Time of It While Here, But Enjoyed Themselves—Features of the Day at the Park.

The annual reunion of the Knights of the Golden Eagle which was held in this city Saturday was marked by an almost continual downpour of rain. The occasion, of course, will be long remembered by those who attended the outing. The local committee spent much time and money to make the affair what it should be, and while they did all that could possibly be done with this end in view, the elements were against them.

The competitive drill of the several commanderies at the park during the afternoon was one of the brilliant successes of the day, and the several drills were watched with unusual interest by an enormous crowd. The judges of the drill were George O. Anderson, late Lieutenant Company E, O. N. G., Dr. E. L. Trimmer, of the Masonic Lodge, and Jacob Herman, of the K. of P. Lodge.

The first prize, $100, was won by White Star Commandery, of Cleveland, and it also received a special prize of $25 for the commandery that came the longest distance. The second prize of $50 was won by Neshannock commandery, of New Castle, Pa. A special prize of $25 was also awarded to this commandery for having the largest percentage of men in line.

The third prize was awarded to Gen. Alex Hays commandery, of Allegheny, which was $25. An additional prize of $25 was awarded this commandery for having the largest number of members present.

Salineville was awarded $25 for having the largest percentage of members in line during the parade, while an award of $25 was made to the Brilliant castle for coming the longest distance according to the number of members in the castle.

At 5:15 a meeting of the committee of the several castles attending the reunion was held in the pavilion, when it was decided that the reunion next year should be held at Steubenville under the auspices of Jefferson castle, No. 39. This reunion will most likely be held at Stanton park.

Many laughable incidents occurred just before the trains departed from the Second street station Saturday night. The building was crowded; also the covered portions of the platforms. Hundreds of persons were compelled to stand in the hard rain early in the evening. Almost all the trains left on time, but it was after midnight when the train departed for Cleveland, hauling a wet and tired crowd of visiting Eagles and their friends.

The fire works display was not all that was expected, as rain put a stop to it after a few pieces had been set off.

Suit on an Account.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—The Excelsior Seat company, of Columbus, has entered suit against Nathan M. Fuhrman, of Columbiana, to recover $347.42 claimed to be due on an account.

CHOOSING THE DELEGATES TO NAME A CONGRESSMAN

nothing which will hold you up and keep you from falling into the grasp of the evil one but the sustaining power of God. God will direct you to your destined place and lead you on to power. With determination and culture of mind you can rest. To reach your true place in life keep ever true, sweet and clean thy soul. By so doing you will shine among your fellowmen; you will be an honor to God and will live a life of everlasting contentment.

BUT ONE ARREST

Though the City Was Crowded There Was No Serious Disorder

Saturday.

Notwithstanding that there were over 6,000 visitors in this city Saturday and a good number Sunday only one person during the two days and nights was landed in the toils, and he for being drunk. Chief Thompson made the arrest assisted by the patrol. When arraigned before the mayor Sunday the man gave his name as Charles Cotton and pleaded for leniency. The mayor let him depart after depositing $6.60.

A tramp walked into the city hall early Sunday evening and after unfolding a woeful tale prayed for a night's lodging. He was accommodated, but this morning looked but little refreshed. He wanted to file a charge against three men who, he said, had knocked him down, beat his physiognomy, taken his coat and vest and $17.50. He did not look like a fellow that ever owned so much property and his story was given no credence.

While standing on the corner of Fifth and Market streets, Joe Guyton, one of the excursionists from New Castle, who missed the train Saturday night, was arrested this morning by Officer Dawson. He was in a condition not warranting an investigation and will not be given a hearing until this evening.

Chief Thompson anticipates no unusual happenings tomorrow, show day, and therefore will have no extra police on duty. He will have the entire force out, however.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

Caused Police to Be Summoned in Haste to J. E. McDonald's Home.

In response to a telephone message Officers Mahoney and McDermott went in haste to the home of J. E. McDonald, Thompson place, Saturday night at about 10 o'clock for the purpose of capturing a burglar who, it was reported, was lurking in that vicinity. The officers instituted a thorough search, but were only rewarded by seeing the man's form dart past them on a hard run. They did not give chase, but tarried in hope that he might not have recognized them and would return. He did not come back and a man answering his description boarded the eastbound passenger train which left a few minutes after the affair.

Mr. McDonald was unable to detect the loss of any articles and considered himself very lucky, as the house was vacant at the time, he being at his office and his wife out of the city.

The police hope this will be a warning to other citizens who very often leave their homes unwatched. Tomorrow is circus day and a rich harvest is generally reaped by house burglars where people are careless.

ANTI-SALOON MEETING

A Lively Discussion at Lisbon on the Question of Prohibition.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—A large and enthusiastic anti-saloon meeting was held in the M. E. church here yesterday afternoon. Many short speeches were made by tin mill men, merchants and lawyers in which the question relative to the saloon and its banishment were warmly discussed. Arguments urged by the advocates of the liquor traffic were considered as well as those put forth by the temperance faction.

New Cumberlanders Missing.

A telephone message from New Cumberland this morning to central station stated that two young men had left that town yesterday afternoon in a buggy and had not yet returned. Having started toward this city the informant thought that they might be in trouble, and requested, if the officers apprehended them, they call up New Cumberland and a friend would respond with the means of procuring their release.

Provided the County Unites on One Candidate—The Phases of the Question And Political Opinion Thereon From Lisbom.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—It is thought that the Republican congressional committee will call a convention to nominate a candidate for congress, to convene the latter part of July. When it has announced the date the county central committee will decide the time and method of choosing the delegates. The political condition here at that time will largely determine the method of electing those from this county.

If Columbiana has several candidates it will probably be necessary to hold a primary election. If it has only one the delegates will probably be elected by townships or county convention, or by appointment by the central committee and instructed for their candidate. In case all who are aspirants withdraw, the delegates to the former congressional convention could be returned or new ones elected and sent uninstructed.

The methods of choosing delegates is a difficult question to decide, as each faction will have its pet scheme.

Clerk McNutt, the chairman of the committee, says that he will appoint a county executive committee of about 12 to decide how the delegates shall be chosen. In the past Stark and Mahoning counties have complained that Columbiana always held its election first and set the pace by instructing its delegates, so that the other counties were compelled to fall in line. This time Clerk McNutt says Columbiana delegates will not be selected until Stark and Mahoning counties have held their elections. In the congressional convention Stark county has 132 delegates, Columbiana 103 and Mahoning 89.

Suit Against John R. Martin's Administrators on Trial at Pittsburgh.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—The case of Mrs. Anna M. Kepner against the administrators of the estate of ex-Treasurer John R. Martin, comes up for trial at Pittsburgh today. Mrs. Kepner is trying to set aside a levy of execution made on property in Pittsburgh. The judgment in this case arose from the deficit in the Columbiana county treasury during John R. Martin's term, and was based upon the allegation that Kepner had stolen the money.

The property in Pittsburgh was transferred by Kepner to his wife shortly after the proceedings against him were instituted.

HOW TO MAKE LIFE A GRAND SUCCESS

An Able Sermon by Pastor Jordan to Clerks and Office Employees.

WISDOM IN SELFISHNESS

Temptations Only Make Stronger Those Who Put Their Trust in God. How Men Must Guard Their Conduct to Become Great.

The Presbyterian church was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening when Rev. C. G. Jordan, the pastor, preached an eloquent, instructive and forcible sermon on a subject especially for the benefit of the clerks and office people of the city.

There were none who heard his utterances, so full of uplifting advice and strong in argument for the ennobling of all classes, that were not benefited.

Flowers and greenery placed in and around the pulpit lent a pleasing appearance. The fine music rendered by the choir and a solo by Miss Baxter also added to the enjoyment.

Following the reading of the 12th chapter of Romans Rev. Mr. Jordan chose as his subject the 16th verse of the fourth chapter of First Timothy, "Take Heed Unto Thyself," and in part said:

"Selfishness, although scorned by the world as a whole, is an acquirement necessary for the attainment of positions in life desired and longed for by the mighty throngs. It is true that you should have a thought for your fellow men and that you should treat them kindly and suffer within reason, if it will help in the best element of their lives; but before that it is your duty, by the teachings of God to be in a measure selfish. You must have consideration for yourself. First wait upon God. He who lingers with God can linger with men.

"Take heed unto thy conduct and thy fellow men. Let courteousness be ever with you. Never fail to be better, because a winsome way sells better than polished ware. Winsomeness, sweetness, gentlemanliness and womanliness will take you far out into the world. They will place you among the honored and great. Let heaven's sweetness be woven into your soul, and those accomplishments will follow without effort on your part. They are God's gifts to man and are held out for you at all times, and the Lord is pleading with you to partake.

God's wisdom is power. Let every man or woman who would rise to sublime heights choose wisdom rather than worldly pleasures. It matters not what position you hold, or what business or profession you are engaged in if you become possessed with God's ideas and learn of His wisdom your future is assured. Man is a master because of his mind, which God gave him, and although he is capable of doing phenomenal things, it would not be possible were it not for God.

"Temptations will come to those who deal with men. There are thousands—yes, tens of thousands—who could turn a key that would place in their hands enough money to let them retire in an easy position during the remainder of their lives. Under circumstances like these is when the greed of Satan says, 'Why linger in poverty? Why not take it? It will do you good.' Then an awful struggle begins, and at this critical point in one's life there is

GOT OFF THE TRACK

Car Derailed Near Thompson's Pottery and Passengers Shaken Up.

With 33 fares registered, and probably 28 passengers on board, car No. 8, of the East Liverpool Street railway, in charge of Motorman Smith and Conductor McArter, west bound, jumped the track as it was rounding the curve about 30 feet west of the sagger shops of the C. C. Thompson pottery about 7:45 last evening. The exact cause may never be known, as the power was shut off from the machines, and from the statement of passengers, the car was not being run at any great speed. But the car went off the track completely. Had it gone a few more inches the line would have been cleared, which would have allowed other cars to pass.

When the car stopped it was about eight feet from the edge of the river bank, but at no time was there any danger of it going over. Considerable glass in the car was broken and the passengers received a severe shaking up, caused by the car running over the ties and two wheels climbing the rails. It was a fortunate accident, as the car just missed striking a trolley wire pole.

Deadening Effect of Pleasure Seeking

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 9.—In the baccalaureate sermon at Vassar College yesterday, President Taylor spoke of the "Deadening effect of pleasure seeking on all the higher activities of life," and expressed the opinion that all that is good in our lives is threatened by the pleasure seeking spirit of the present age. Many students, he said, feel that the best thing to be gotten from college is the chance for a good time. This spirit undermines the physical vigor and dulls the mental power.

RECOMMENDING COAL.

A promoter of a recently discovered coal mine in Rhode Island sent a quantity of the material to Professor — of New York University. Afterward he asked for a certificate of its quality whereupon the professor wrote:

To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that I have tried this coal in my fireplaces, grates and stoves for several weeks, and, having done so, I can confidently recommend to all my friends that they hurry into the state of Rhode Island on the day of judgment, being well satisfied that it will be last portion of the earth to burn.

THE USEFUL MEN.

Encourage the useful men in the community. Don't start foolish and untrue stories about them and discourage the work they are doing. If you cannot do anything for the public good yourself, don't discourage those who are willing to give their time and money toward developing the community in which you live.—Atchison Globe.

MILITARY CRIMES.

Hardship and privations do not improve the temper, and insubordination easily supervenes, while the temptation of drink, if it is to be had, is too often irresistible to weak but well meaning men long deprived of such dissipation.

Another fruitful source of transgression which, if we are to trust vague reports, became at times epidemic was the almost natural surrender to physical exhaustion, says Major Arthur Griffiths in The Fortnightly Review. To sleep on sentry is one of the most serious of military crimes. It is inexcusable from the military point of view, for the safety of thousands may hang upon the vigilance of one man, yet the strain of some wearisome, long protracted march or fatiguing operations will sometimes explain what cannot be defended.

Nor can we shut our eyes to possible guilt of a more contemptible, if not more flagrant, kind. Misbehavior before the enemy—cowardice, in plain English—is not absolutely unknown in our or any other army. It is wiser, perhaps, to draw a veil over its exhibition and the punishment that must follow, yet we cannot shut our eyes to the certainty of its occasional occurrence.

THE DIVINITY OF JUSTICE.

The one divine work, the one ordered sacrifice, is to do justice, and it is the last we are ever inclined to do. Anything rather than that; as much charity as you choose, but no justice. "Nay," you will say, "charity is greater than justice." Yes, it is greater; it is the summit of justice; it is the temple of which justice is the foundation. But you can't have the top without the bottom; you cannot build upon charity.

You must build upon justice for this main reason—that you have not at first charity to build with. It is the last reward of good work. Do justice to your brother—you can do that whether you love him or not—and you will come to love him. It is all very fine to think you can build upon charity to begin with, but you will find all you have got to begin with begins at home and is essentially love of yourself.—John Ruskin.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

The uniform success of this remedy has made it the most popular preparation in use for bowel complaints. It is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take. It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children, and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

A FOGGY STORY.

In London an American, boasting of the superiority of his country, was interrupted by an Englishman, who said: "There's one thing in which this country surpasses America. You never saw on the other side of the Atlantic any fog that could match the one which hangs over London tonight."

"Fog! Fog!" came the unhesitating reply of the irate American. "Why, this is nothing compared with some of the fogs we have around New York harbor. Sometimes the fog is so thick around there that it's a common thing for the captains of the ferryboats to put on extra crews simply to pump the fog out of the cabins. Why, there's a corporation organizing in New Jersey right now to can American fog and supply the British people with 'the real thing.' "—Argonaut.

Good Place For Young Men's Development, Said President Patton.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

It Was Preached by the President, at Princeton University—Why Fewer Men Are Educating For the Ministry, Explained by Him.

Princeton, N. J., June 9.—The feature of yesterday's commencement program was the baccalaureate sermon preached by President Patton. The procession of trustees, faculty and members of the senior class formed in front of Nassau hall, and led by President Patton and ex-President Grover Cleveland, marched to Alexander hall. Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Patton were in the audience.

Among other things Dr. Patton said:

Christian University Good Place.

"Sooner or later a man must be free; sooner or later he takes charge of his own conscience, and a university is one of the best training places for this. I say this because an impression abounds that a university is a place of terrible temptation, and mothers often debate the question whether they should sacrifice intellect for morals. They think it is difficult for a man to acquire an education except at great risk, and men speak about the temptations of college life as if there were no temptations in business, as if the banker and broker lived in holy lands, as if the apostles of Wall street were in closer touch with the ten commandments than other men. I know of no place where a man may be trusted to work out the best in him so well as in a Christian university. If you have been faithful to the early training you have received it has been helped by coming here."

Why Less Enter Ministry.

Speaking of the falling off of candidates for the ministry among college graduates, President Patton said: "Some people complain that so few men are now entering the ministry, and give every reason for this but the true one. The reason is simply this: We are living in an age of intellectual transition and burning unrest, and therefore I have respect for the man who doubts, who overcomes his doubts and gathers strength."

The annual meeting of the Philadelphia society, the undergraduate religious organization, was held in Marquand chapel last night.

CATHOLICS MADE A PROTEST.

Resolution to the President Saying Church Is Discriminated Against in Filipinos' Education.

Cleveland, O., June 9.—The advisory board of the Federation of American Catholic Societies met in this city Sunday for the purpose of fixing the date for the next annual meeting, the discussion of progress and other matters. Chicago, Aug. 5, was the place and date named.

Those Who Were Present.

Those present were T. B. Minehan, Henry J. Fries, Anthony Matre, George W. Gibbons, M. P. Mooney and Rt. Rev. Bishops McFaul, of Trenton, N. J., and Messmer, of Green Bay, Wis.

Letters of commendation of the federation's work were read from Bishop Spalding, of Peoria; Bishop Forrest, of San Antonio; Bishop Haid, of North Carolina; Bishop Glorieux, of Boise City, Idaho; Bishop Gabrels, of Ogdensburg; Bishop Hoban, of Scranton; Bishop Michaud, of Burlington, Vt.; Bishop Donahue, of Wheeling, and Bishop Conaty, of the Catholic university.

Discrimination Is Alleged.

A resolution that was adopted at the meeting and which will be sent to the president at Washington embodies a protest against the conduct of the Philippine school system, the lacim being made that it is a proselytizing system, which seeks to wean Catholic children from their faith.

There Is No Question About It—It Is a Plain Statement of Facts

Made By an East Liverpool Citizen.

Mrs. Margaret Tracy, of No. 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool Ohio, says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells, weak and miserable, could not sleep, and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store. The result was splendid, the medicine built her up, enriched the blood, made the nerves strong, gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect. The old-time languid, played-out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy, and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

The charge is made that Catholicism is being deliberately discriminated against in favor of Protestantism, and that, considering the fact that the Filipinos are a Catholic people, but scant recognition has been given representatives of that church in the appointment of teachers and other methods used in teaching the Filipinos.

NEW CHURCH WAS DEDICATED.

Bishop Scannell officiated at Omaha, Neb.—The Pope sent a blessing.

Omaha, Neb., June 9.—With solemn ceremonies the newly constructed church of the Sacred Heart was dedicated Sunday by Bishop Scannell, of this diocese, assisted by Bishop Glennon, of Kansas City; Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, and a great number of the clergy of the Nebraska churches. Pope Leo XIII sent a special message granting his blessing on the new structure, which was read during the ceremony.

The ceremonies were very imposing and the admission of 1,000 people was by card. Bishop Spalding delivered the dedicatory sermon.

INTEROCEANIC CANAL BILL.

Expected to Take Up Most of Senate's Time This Week—Forecast of House.

Washington, June 9.—The greater part of the time of the senate the present week will be given to the interoceanic canal bill. An attempt will probably be made by the supporters of the Nicaragua route to secure an agreement to vote on the bill next Saturday, but the probabilities are all against success. Senator Harris, of Kansas, will open the debate today in support of the Nicaragua route, and he will be followed by various other senators for and against the measure. Senator Fairbanks has given formal notice of a speech on Wednesday. He will support the Spooner bill.

Today, in the morning hour, Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, will speak on the bill creating a national park in the southern Appalachian mountains, and, in accordance with the agreement reached Saturday the morning hour of other days will be devoted to consideration of Senator Nelson's bill for the abolition of the London dock charges until a vote shall be taken upon it. Saturday, after 4 o'clock, the senate will listen to eulogies of the character of the late Representative Stokes, of South Carolina.

On Friday the nomination of General William Crozier to be chief of the ordnance bureau will be considered in executive session.

PACIFIC CABLE MEASURE.

Also Irrigation Bills Expected to Take Up Most of House's Time.

Washington, June 9.—The house program for this week contemplates consideration of the Pacific cable and the senate irrigation bills, which the rules committee is anxious to have disposed of before the time set for taking up the Philippine government bill.

Special rules have been prepared for consideration of both measures. The cable bill will be given two and the irrigation bill three days. The cable bill provides for an American built and an American laid cable to connect our insular possessions in the Pacific with the Pacific coast. It carries a direct appropriation out of the treasury for this purpose. The prospects for its passage are not considered bright. Mr. Corliss, the author of the bill, professes confidence that it will pass. The opposition to the measure believe the cable to the Philippines should be laid by private enterprise.

Some of the house leaders, including Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, it is understood, will oppose the irrigation bill, but the friends of the measure are very hopeful of its passage. Today is District of Columbia day. All the appropriation bills except the general deficiency, which will not be ready until next week, have passed the house.

VINDICATION FOR DAVIS.

Home Baptist Church Invited Him to Join—Expelled From Another.

Little Rock, Ark., June 9.—Governor Jefferson Davis, Sunday, accepted the invitation of the Baptist church of Russellville, his home, and rejoined that church.

The governor's friends claim this is a vindication of him by his home people against the action of the Second Baptist church of Little Rock in withdrawing fellowship from him. It is alleged further by the governor's friends that the action taken by the Little Rock church was the result of resentment for the part he took in the race for United States senator.

Mahoning county, which has not been represented in congress for 25 years, will make an effort to secure the nomination, James Kennedy being the principal choice.

Bill Will Free Rathbone.

Havana, June 9.—The bill granting amnesty to all Americans now in jail or awaiting trial in Cuba was Saturday passed unanimously by the senate. President Palma will sign it. Estes G. Rathbone said: "I am greatly disappointed, for I wanted a new trial before an uninterested court."

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by the invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. The latest scheme for changing county lines appears ill-advised as well as impracticable. East Liverpool and Wellsville have reached their present stage of growth and advancement as cities of Columbiana county, and such they will remain. The advantages of belonging to Jefferson county are not apparent, except that it is now easier to reach Steubenville than Lisbon by railroad. That is a condition that cannot continue indefinitely, and from present indications, will not continue long. Out of the half dozen schemes that are on foot for connecting East Liverpool and Lisbon by electric and steam railroads, it is not unreasonable to look for the materialization of some one of them at an early date. That result achieved, our own county seat would be nearer and much more accessible than the Jefferson county capital. The practical impossibility of getting the county as a whole to vote to give over its wealthiest and most populous section to another county and another congressional district is enough to put an effectual quietus upon the chimerical idea. The Columbiana county citizens who are promoting the scheme—if any considerable number are doing so—would be doing more for their own interests and for the interests of the two cities by working for a new railroad. That is a feasible project; the other is not.

The anti-anarchist bill now before the house touches a question that demands the most careful consideration and prompt and immediate action. The sorrow and shame that an anarchist's deed brought upon the nation only a few months ago are still fresh in the public mind and should furnish all the incentive necessary for the enactment of such a law as shall make attempts upon the lives of officers of the government treasonable acts, and to be punished accordingly. If congress fails to deal a stunning blow to the serpent of anarchy, it will not do its duty.

The popularity of the historical novel—which, by the way, is more novel than historical—is reported on the wane. Well, let it pass and be forgotten. This sort of literature, if literature it could be called, was some thing of an advance over the dime novel, but moral and mission were equally lacking in both.

OBITUARY

Jacob S. Kountz.

Jacob S. Kountz, Sr., aged 90 years, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the county, died at his home near Wellsville Sunday morning at 2 o'clock of grip fever and cramps. He was born in Lisbon October 5, 1811, and when but six years of age the family moved to the present residence just outside of the eastern boundary line of the Wellsville city limits.

Early in life Mr. Kountz, in company with his father, John Kountz, started in the yellow ware pottery business on their farm, on which the residence is located, there being a canal passing in front of the pottery at that time by which they shipped most of their ware.

Later Mr. Kountz started on the river as captain of a steamer and for years ran between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. Retiring from the river he started a tannery on the farm, which he managed for a number of years and since that time has lived a retired life.

He is a brother of Commodore W. J. Kountz, of Pittsburgh, who is well known throughout the Ohio valley, owning a number of river steamers.

The following children survive: Hiram A. Kountz, Wellsville; Captain John Kountz, of Bon Homme; S. D., a pilot on the Missouri river; J. S., Jr., who is the proprietor of a Wellsville meat market; Mrs. Mary Smith, of Jefferson county; Mrs. Eliza McGlenen, who kept house for the deceased; Mrs. W. S. Stewart, of Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence, Rev. L. F. Lavery officiating. Interment will be made in the family lot at Spring Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Hugh Sproul.

Mrs. Hugh Sproul, aged about 65 years, died Saturday evening very suddenly at her home in Fairview. She was engaged in milking a cow when she suddenly fell over and died instantly, heart trouble being the cause.

She leaves three children, two daughters and one son, her husband having died suddenly years ago. Funeral services were held from the late residence, Rev. Mr. Green officiating, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE POTTERIES

An eastern trades paper takes the liberty to suggest to the dealers in a town in which a strike is in progress not to countermand their orders. The article says: "Because of present conditions some of those who placed orders for fall delivery are debating whether or not they shall countermand those purchases. In fact, one or two have already done so. This is a mistake. By the time the goods are here the strike will be over and they will be wanted. The miners will have money to spend for the holidays, as they are people who make much of that season, coming largely from countries where for ages the Christmas gift is regarded with more sanctity than it is in this land. They will deny themselves necessities that tokens of remembrance may be made. The fact that the miners have every little money now is one of the very reasons why they will not be able to keep up the strike for a long time. That they have no money is because they are good spenders, and as soon as they get to work again they will begin buying."

Slight dissatisfaction developed at the Equitable pottery, at Trenton, the other day because two potters, who had previously solicited positions, circulated a report among the biscuit kilnmen that they were not being paid the usual prices. An investigation disclosed the fact that the rates were as good as those in vogue at any other establishment in the city. When the kilnmen learned this they promptly agreed to continue work at the same prices.

Mantles are the latest experiment that has been undertaken by the Rockwood Pottery company, of Cincinnati. The tile that will compose the first mantle, which is to be eight feet in height, will be worked with as much care as any of the high class ware made at that plant. It would not be surprising to see a local manufacturer make an experiment of this character, as the field of trade in this line is new.

A meeting of the pottery printers employed in the eastern potteries was held at the Brotherhood headquarters at Trenton last Friday evening, when a number of new names were added to the charter application. Vice President Hutchins has formed a temporary organization of this branch of the trade, but the permanent organization has been deferred until practically all in that branch of the trade have been gathered in.

Two conferences were held last week between representatives of the Manufacturing Potters' Association and committees representing the interests of the operatives. The meetings were arranged for an informal discussion of alleged inequalities in the price list of 1890. The very best of feeling characterized the two sessions, which will probably result in the adjustment of a plan that will meet with the approval of both parties.

William Swindells, boss packer at the C. C. Thompson pottery, left Saturday afternoon for Cambridge Springs, Pa., where he will remain several weeks for the benefit of his health. He was accompanied on the trip by B. C. Simms, of the Thompson company. Mr. Simms will remain at Cambridge Springs for several weeks.

The recent meeting of warehouse women's local No. 63 was quite an interesting one. Only one new member was obligated, although a number of applications have been presented to the local. The local elected Mrs. May Davis to the vacant chair of recording secretary, caused by the death of Miss Belle Gallagher.

Enoch Mountford, aged 64 years, one of the oldest employees of the Greenwood pottery at Trenton, is dead. He came from England about 35 years ago and will be buried from his home tomorrow. He was known to a number of persons in this city, who have been employed in the Trenton potteries.

When Congressman Tayler was a resident of this city and before he had any high political ambitions he was a newspaper correspondent. He represented the East Liverpool district for the Crocker Journal, of New York, and that paper, in speaking of his withdrawal from congress, says: "It is a pity that Congressman Tayler withdraws from politics, for staunch men like him are wanted in our legislative halls."

More trouble is on at the Equitable pottery, at Trenton, and the Brotherhood will be asked to settle the dispute. It is alleged that one of the bench bosses had been receiving $5 a week more wages than he should and that a portion of this amount is being taken from the other kilnmen.

Miss Alice Hendricks, who has been employed in the warehouse department of the United States pottery at Wellsville, has resigned her position, obtained a withdrawal card from local No. 62, and within a few days goes to the country, where she will remain during the summer.

The stockholders of the American Porcelain company, of New Brighton, at a recent meeting increased the capital stock of the company to $100,000 from $50,000. The plant, it is said, will be enlarged, practically doubling its capacity.

The new plant of the East Ohio Sewer Pipe company, at Ironton, is about completed. Practically all the machinery has been installed and the new plant has a combined area of 135,000 square feet.

William Mayer, who has been employed as a dipper and kilnman at the D. E. McNicol pottery for several years, has resigned his position at that plant, and is now at the Laughlin No. 2.

The moulds for the new pottery being built at Crooksville, O., are now being made, and it is the intention of the company to place the plant in operation early in August.

It is said a new sewer pipe factory is to be established at Clarksburg, W. Va. Ohio manufacturers of this article are said to be interested in the project.

The strike of some of the boys in the Wheeling pottery has been settled. The dispute was not with the firm, but with some of the workmen.

It is likely that a local will be formed at Trenton, the members of which will be from the packing and warehouse departments.

Near Hamilton, Ont., the William News' pottery was damaged by fire recently to the extent of several thousand dollars.

John E. Boulton, who has been dipping at Laughlin No. 1, started at the McNicol plant this morning. He resides in Chester.

The latest scheme for changing county lines appears ill-advised as well as impracticable. East Liverpool and Wellsville have reached their present stage of growth and advancement as cities of Columbian county, and such they will remain. The advantages of belonging to Jefferson county are not apparent, except that it is now easier to reach Steubenville than Lisbon by railroad. That is a condition that cannot continue indefinitely, and from present indications, will not continue long. Out of the half dozen schemes that are on foot for connecting East Liverpool and Lisbon by electric and steam railroads, it is not unreasonable to look for the materialization of some one of them at an early date. That result achieved, our own county seat would be nearer and much more accessible than the Jefferson county capital. The practical impossibility of getting the county as a whole to vote to give over its wealthiest and most populous section to another county and another congressional district is enough to put an effectual quietus upon the chimerical idea. The Columbian county citizens who are promoting the scheme—if any considerable number are doing so—would be doing more for their own interests and for the interests of the two cities by working for a new railroad. That is a feasible project; the other is not.

Three Drunks Run in For Actions on Wellsboro Streets.

Three plain drunks were ushered into the Wellsboro bastile by Officers Davis and Elliott and Chief Thorne. Two of the men gave their residing place as "down ya' r," and the third was a well known Wellsboro colored man, better known as George.

All three had partaken too freely of "the cup that cheers," and Sunday morning started out in a one-horse rig and traveled all over the streets of the town, demonstrating the fact that they were drunk by their loud talk.

They were warned several times to leave the streets, but paid no attention, and were finally landed in jail. George, who was not so much intoxicated as the others, gave security for his appearance and was released on his promise to leave the streets and sober up.

All will be given a hearing today before the mayor, and will probably be compelled to pay the customary $4.60 for their good time.

TWO FINE CONCERTS

Enjoyed by Crowds at Rock Springs Park Yesterday Afternoon and Evening

Two of the finest concerts of the season were enjoyed by large crowds in the Rock Springs park pavilion yesterday afternoon and evening.

Nowling's unsurpassed orchestra, ably assisted by the Clark Star Quartet, were the entertainers, and each selection rendered by either the orchestra or quartet was well applauded.

The quartet was the chief attraction at both concerts, being called back for a second selection after each number, and once in the afternoon called back four times. The rag time selection, "I Must a Bin a Dreamin," was enjoyed most of all, being sung for an encore, in the afternoon.

In the evening the vocal selection,

"Sweet Sixteen," sung by George Williams, with the assistance of the quartet.

Miss Laura Geon, who has been cashier for the Charles A. Smith interests in this city for several years, has several her connection with the company, taking effect last Saturday evening. Within a few weeks Miss Geon will leave for Mt. Clemens, where she will spend several months for the benefit of her health.

ACTION DEFERRED

The Matter of New Cumberland-Chester Street Railway Franchise Not Decided.

The question of granting a franchise to Samuel B. Goucher and others, of Toronto, which was before the county circuit court today, allowing them to construct and operate a street railway line between New Cumberland and Chester via Congo, was laid over for today and the applications, as, there are more than one, will be considered by the court Thursday of this week.

Oil Field Operations.

The tools which have been stuck in the Leasure well on the Penny farm in Grant district were extracted from the well yesterday, and the lower casing is now being placed in the hole. The well is expected to be in within the week. The new well that is being drilled on the White Hill farm adjoining the Carson farm in the Turkeyfoot territory will be finished tomorrow. The well, it is thought, will be a good producer, and not less than 10 barrels a day are expected.

Children's Day at Fairview.

Children's day exercises will be given at the Fairview Christian church next Sunday and a fine program has been arranged for the occasion. It has been so arranged that each and every pupil of the Sunday school will take some part.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. E. D. Reed, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today visiting friends.

Ruth Baxter went to Fairview yesterday to spend a week with friends and relatives.

The salary of the postmaster at New Cumberland has been increased from $1,700 to $1,800 a year.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening in their hall on Fairview street.

A new conductor on the Rock Springs line by the name of Smith resigned his position yesterday and returned to his home in Beaver Falls.

Miss Minnie Simpson, who has been visiting at the home of her brother, William Simpson, for the past few weeks, left on Saturday evening, via Cleveland, for her home in Standish, Mich.

The South Avenue M. E. church, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., a suburb of the "Smoky City," will hold a picnic tomorrow at Rock Springs park. Only one train will be necessary to carry the crowd expected.

MORMON ELDERS LEAVE

Two Who Have Worked Here For Some Time Have Departed.

Two Mormon elders who have been doing missionary work in this city for the past few weeks, have left and are now located at Cleveland. The elders came here from Cincinnati, and have been working in and about the city for some time. A few days ago, one of the elders, S. E. Hill, of Salt Lake City, was taken ill and was accompanied to Cleveland by another elder named T. M. Woodman. When Woodman was asked when he expected to return to this section and the result of their work while they have been in this city, he did not care to express an opinion.

Every few months elders of the Mormon church come to this city, and after working for a few weeks here on the missionary plan, as they term it, pack their trunks and seek other fields which are probably more fertile.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Talking Birds.

It is not a little singular that while the so called dumb animals have all some language of their own, a method by which each species can hold converse with its kind, it is in the feathered world alone that we find any creatures capable of being taught to use the speech of man. Certain birds not only are capable of producing articulate words and sentences, but it would appear from many well authenticated instances as if they possess in some measure the reasoning faculty which enables them to apply their acquired art of speech with peculiar aptitude.

The raven, the jackdaw, the magpie and the jay may all be trained to imitate sounds and to utter words and even sentences distinctly, but more familiar to most people are talking birds of the parrot tribe, which acquire the gift of speech in far greater perfection than any other of their species.

The voice of the parrot is also much more human in its tones. The raven is too hoarse, the jay and the magpie are too shrill, but there are modifications in the parrot's notes when speaking that are sometimes absolutely uncanny in their weird resemblance to the "human voice divine." This superiority is due to the construction of its beak, its tongue and head. The parrot, too, has a wonderful memory and rarely forgets what it has once thoroughly learned.—Our Young Folk.

The Vanishing Ball.

With a sharp penknife whittle a large cork in the form of a ball about an inch in diameter. Take a human hair and form a loop in it about one and one-half inches long, affixing the ends to the ball with a little wax or, better still, by forcing the ends into the cork. Now pass the forefinger of your right hand through the hair loop, letting the ball lie on the palm when you show it. Place your left hand over the right and at the same time separate the forefinger from the second of your right.

Quickly push the ball with the thumb of the right hand between the open fingers. The ball falls at the back of the hand, which you keep in such position that the company cannot see the ball hanging behind. Remove the left hand, closed, as if it contained the ball; then open the hand and show it empty. With a little dexterity you may with a quick jerk throw the ball over your hand from the back into the palm and show that it has returned. For this you must make a movement as if catching it in the air. Now break off the hair and give the ball to the company for examination.—American Boy.

The Benevolent Mule—A Fable.

A farmer once bought a mule at the market and named it Tough Hide, for it looked as if it had been used to have more blows than food. He put the animal in his little clover field, and this it seemed to enjoy very much. One morning Tough Hide saw a troop of asses coming down the lane, looking rather thin, and he asked them if they would like a nice feed of sweet clover. "Ah, wouldn't we!" Braydesthe asses. So the mule with his teeth drew out the staple which fastened the gate and let them in. Soon after the farmer passed by and saw the animals eating his clover, so he got a cudgel and drove them all out. He not only gave the asses a good sound thrashing, but Tough Hide as well.

Wellsboro
Streets.

Three plain drunks were ushered into the Wellsboro jail by Officers Davis and Elliott and Chief Thorne. Two of the men gave their residing place as "down ya," "x," and the third was a well known Wellsboro colored man, better known as George.

All three had partaken too freely of "the cup that cheers," and Sunday morning started out in a one-horse rig and traveled all over the streets of the town, demonstrating the fact that they were drunk by their loud talk.

They were warned several times to leave the streets, but paid no attention, and were finally landed in jail. George, who was not so much intoxicated as the others, gave security for his appearance and was released on his promise to leave the streets and sober up.

All will be given a hearing today before the mayor, and will probably be compelled to pay the customary $4.00 for their good time.

MORE JOIN STRIKE?

The Struggle In West Virginia
Was Expected to Become General Today.

OLD COURT ORDER TO FIGURE.

Officers Were at McDonald Mine to Enforce 1896 Injunction—Rend Expected to Grant Demands Today, but Men Urged to Stay Out.

Montgomery, W. Va., June 9.—While many miners worked here Saturday, it was believed last night that the strike will become general in this district today. Deputy United States marshals were at the McDonald mine to enforce an injunction, made permanent in 1896 by Judge Jackson against interference with property or men.

It was reported that Colonel W. P. Rend, of Chicago, who formerly operated in the Pittsburgh district, also in the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois fields, and who is now one of the largest operators in this state, has agreed to concede to the demands of the miners. There was much interest in anticipation of an announcement from Rend today. The men from other mines were urging those at Rend's mines not to resume until concessions should be made to all. The strikers will open commissary stores today.

Ordered to Vacate Houses.

North Fork, W. Va., June 9.—The local operators here have given notice that all strikers must vacate company houses today. Several hundred non-union men were at work here Saturday. The strikers met yesterday, and it was believed violence would be resorted to if the non-union men should attempt to enter the mines again today. The operators said they will protect all the non-union men who desire to work.

Davy, W. Va., June 9.—The operators announced yesterday that they would operate their mines with non-union labor today. The strikers said that no non-union men should enter the mines. The operators were putting guards, armed with Winchesters, about their property, and serious results were expected today.

Thurmond, W. Va., June 9.—This is the center of the New River coal field. It was raining here yesterday. Notwithstanding the rain, the miners paraded the narrow valley of New River and much drinking and agitation prevailed. Saturday 85 per cent of the miners, in both the New and the Kanawha river districts, were out and it was thought last night that today not 5 per cent of the miners in these fields would be at work. The daily shipments of coal from these two fields amounted to 500 cars, but Saturday less than 100 were sent out, and part of these were loaded Friday. Colonel W. P. Rend, who employs more than a thousand miners here, announced yesterday that he will concede the strikers' demands, but it was doubtful if the miners employed at his works would resume today, as they will stay out in sympathy with others. There had been no violence in the field, last night.

Operators Ignore Offer to Meet.

Keystone, W. Va., June 9.—There had been no disturbances throughout the coal fields of the Norfolk and Western district yesterday. The strikers will have additions to their ranks today. A few collieries in the Tug river and Simons branch fields that operated Saturday will be completely tied up today. The operators ignore the appeal of the United Mine Workers for a joint meeting at Bramwell, June 11. Several operators here were arranging for Hungarian miners, and it was said that 1,000 will be here by the middle of next week. The operators also claimed that they will enforce their order that all strikers shall vacate company houses. The strikers said they will not move out, and serious trouble was expected, probably today. Ex-Deputy Marshal Sam Smith has been deputized to gather men to come into this field, to protect the property of the coal companies and also to enforce the order for the strikers vacating company houses. Smith will be here to day with 50 men.

Foreigners Said They'd Join.

Rain kept the miners from congregating Sunday. Most of the Italian and Hungarian miners in the Elkhorn and Tug river fields announced yesterday that they would this morning join the strikers. Several train crews will be laid off by the Norfolk and Western today.

Washington, June 9.—The president talked with Hon. Carroll D. Wright, the United States commissioner of labor, for some time Sunday regarding the situation in the anthracite coal region. Mr. Wright came to Washington at the request of the president to get his views on the question and to discuss what might be done under the law which gives the commissioner of labor the right to investigate affairs of this kind and to collect information relating to them, which may be reported to the president or to congress.

PENNPACKER SURE.

SO SAYS DURHAM—ELKIN, DE-

Watres' Friends Say He Holds Balance of Power—Pennsylvania Convention Wednesday.

Harrisburg, June 9.—"The nomination of Judge Pennypacker is as certain as it is that there will be a roll call Wednesday," said Insurance Commissioner Durham last night in speaking of the contest for the Republican nomination for governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth Grist, who is assisting in the management of the campaign of Attorney General Elkin, said last night: "Mr. Elkin will be nominated on the first ballot. If there was ever any doubt as to the outcome of this contest the result of yesterday's primary elections should remove that doubt."

Watres Men Claim Chance Good.

Judge Pennypacker and General Elkin are the leaders in the battle for governor, and these statements are samples of the claims of each side. Friends of ex-Lieutenant Governor Watres, who is also a candidate, claim he holds the balance of power and that his chances are as good as either of his opponents.

Much depends on the 36 delegates from Allegheny county, and until they indicate their choice it is conceded that the result will be in doubt. Pennypacker is sure of the 86 delegates from his home county of Philadelphia, while Elkin is backed by a majority of the delegates outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Watres has behind him the delegates from Lackawanna and several smaller counties.

Judge Pennypacker's campaign is being directed by Commissioner Durham and Senators Quay and Penrose, who have leased a private residence for headquarters during the convention.

Elkin is managing his own campaign, with the assistance of State Chairman Reeder, Secretary Greist and other members of the state administration. Colonel Watres will be here today to take personal direction of his forces.

PENNOCK AND SIBLEY FACTION'S CHOICE.

The state committee will meet on Tuesday to make up the roll of delegates and select the temporary officers of the convention. Senator Penrose is the choice of the Pennypacker adherents for temporary chairman.

Congressman Sibley, of Venango, will be named by them for permanent chairman. Neither Elkin nor Watres have indicated his choice for these positions.

Associated Press Dispatches
Confirm This Statement.

London, June 9.—The war office received the following message from Lord Kitchener, under yesterday's date:

"The disarming of the Boers is proceeding satisfactorily, and good spirit displayed everywhere. Yesterday 4,342 rifles had been surrendered up to date."

Dispatches received by the Associated Press from Pretoria confirm the statements made by Lord Kitchener's communication to the war office, and say that the whole staff of the late Transvaal government, with a bodyguard of 50 men, surrendered last Saturday.

Found Man's Remains on a Farm.
Warren, O., June 9.—James Dewees, a mine boss for the Creek Coal company, was shot and killed Saturday by strikers. He was leading a gang of 20 Italians, non-union men, up the mountain side to the pit mouth.

Fully a dozen shots were fired at the party and two of the Italians were also injured. The strikers threatened to use their Winchester rifles before leaving their homes.

THE BULLET FROM AFAR.

How Modern War Methods Try the Soldiers' Nerves.

Today a man may die as soon as the enemy's guns, hidden away in the distant, cloud-topped mountains seven miles away, begin to talk. And over that seven miles he must walk with caution, with a wide interval between him and his pals on either hand. He must lie down at every short halt and scratch the ground hurriedly with his little spade at every long one, for the great shells are sailing toward him and he sees by his officer's eye and hears by his commands that it is considered that he may perish at any moment and that precautions are necessary to preserve him. He sees, moreover, how futile those precautions must be if one of those monsters howling overhead should land as near to him as the last one did to that blasted tree for instance, with its scorched, dangling limbs and the huge charred mass in its stout trunk, or as the one before did to the team of mules in the ambulance wagon, now a screaming, struggling jumble of harness and bloody flesh.

All this is dispiriting and appears unnecessary. The country on all sides is as peaceful as his native dale, not a sign of an enemy. Even the great blue hill ahead, on which he is told the enemy's long guns are posted, looks as quiet as the mountain on a Christmas card. Yet for two miles he walks through death, thinking only of it because there is nothing else to think of, and then as twilight falls bivouacs in extended line, sees his friends run for their tea between the fall of the shells, notices one of them time his run back badly and meet a projectile in full career, to part from it an awful and disgusting offense, and then lies down in the darkness with shaking nerves and the thought that five worse miles still intervene between him and the guns he knows he is intended to take.

Next morning he is awakened by a shell, is marched with infinite caution for two more miles, shelled the whole way, is shelled even in his bivouac by the light of the moon and as he watches the projectiles bursting like water-sprouts of fire along his hillside is glad when he is told that tomorrow will be the battle, after which if he wins and if he lives he may be able to walk and sleep in peace for a space—"A Line man" in New York World.

LINCOLN'S DISPATCHES.

Why Many of Them Were Dated
From the War Department.

Surprise is often expressed by very intelligent people that so large a proportion of President Lincoln's most important telegrams and some of his letters are dated from the war department instead of the executive mansion and none of them from the navy, treasury or other administrative bureaus. This is generally deemed a very singular fact, and from it writers have plausibly drawn the conclusion that Lincoln personally liked the secretary of war better than any of the other cabinet officers. While this indeed appears to have been true, it does not necessarily so follow. He certainly held Mr. Seward in high regard, yet he seldom went to the state department.

In the circumstances it was not at all singular. The explanation is easy. War was the business of that time, and Lincoln's eyes were always bent to the army, especially when great military events were impending. He habitually haunted the adjacent war department and army headquarters, where about General Halleck, his military adviser, for news and views. Head and heart were strenuously concentrated on the fight, wherever it might be. His fertile brain saw, too, the critical points in the game oftentimes far more clearly than some of his so-called "ablest generals." He not only wished to know what was going on in the field, but performed his own part nobly. In the heat of action or at crucial moments his orders, suggestions and inquiries were fired off spontaneously from wherever he might be at the moment, and at such periods he was generally "over at the war department" with Mr. Stanton. That is the chief reason why so many of his dispatches are dated at that department and not because he perhaps held Stanton in higher esteem than the secretary of the navy or state or treasury—Lippincott's Magazine.

KING ATTENDED IN LONDON.

Accompanied by the Queen—Princes and Princesses, Members of Parliament and Others Present in St. Paul's Cathedral.

London, June 9.—The noisy jubilation with which London has resounded for the last week was succeeded yesterday by more subdued, although not less impressive, public demonstrations of thankfulness for the return of peace in South Africa.

The thanksgiving exercises held in London yesterday were typical of the services held throughout the empire, but the presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal devotional services in London, and the progress of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's cathedral through cheering thousands of British subjects and visitors in the metropolis the added feature of a notable historic occasion.

The King and queen were joined at the cathedral by the Prince and Princess of Wales and many other distinguished personages.

Presented Sword of City.

The king's carriage was stopped when it reached the city officials, who were waiting at Temple Bar, and the lord mayor of London, Sir Joseph Dimond, presented the sword of the city to his majesty and uttered a formal welcome. The king returned the sword, bowed and simply remarked: "Thank you very much."

King Edward and Queen Alexandra alighted at the west entrance of St. Paul's. Here they were received by the bishops of Stepney and London and conducted by them to their seats, which were under the dome of the building, directly in front of the pulpit. The seats in the choir stalls were occupied by the members of the present cabinet and by members of former cabinets.

Members of the house of lords and members of the house of commons were seated on opposite sides under the dome.

In addition to the presence of many army and naval officials, the military prowess of the empire was represented by detachments of the royal fusiliers, the horse and foot guards and other regiments.

Sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Their majesties entered the cathedral to the accompaniment of the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," by the organ and choir, and the throng of worshippers rose and heartily joined in the singing. The cathedral organ was reinforced with horns and other instruments. A notable feature of the musical service was the rendition of a "Te Deum," composed by the late Sir Arthur Sullivan for a thanksgiving peace service.

Following the thanksgiving collects and at the request of King Edward, the hymn, "O, God, Our Help in Ages Past," was sung to the tune of "Old Hundred."

The sermon by the bishop of Stepney was short and simple and was preached on the effective text, "The blessings of peace." The service was concluded with the singing of the national anthem.

CIRCUS TOMORROW

Robinson's Big Show Will Be Here,
Bigger and Better Than Ever.

A WONDERFUL MENAGERIE

And Ring Performances of the Highest
Merit—Everything Up-to-Date And the Best to Be Had—Some Noteworthy Features.

John Robinson's big show will be in town tomorrow and West End park will be converted into a tented city. The show is a great enterprise. Over 500 people travel with it. It is strong in its circus features and has one of the best traveling menageries in America.

Animals from every quarter of the globe are represented. There is a polar bear to delight the small boy who has read wonderful stories of this animal in its haunts beyond the northern lights. There are real live tigers, a whole cage full of them, fresh from the jungles of India where their ancestors have supped on many a luckless native. And lions, baby lions and some that are not babies. One big fellow stands and looks out the bars of his cage as if trying to determine something of his surroundings and then lies down to the dream of his native Africa and the happy days of his youth before he became a circus lion. This lion eats 15 pounds of western beef steak for his dinner every day. What a blow to the beef trust if he should die!

To enter into detail and describe every animal would require too much time, but the animals are numerous and fine representatives of their classes.

Outside the menagerie is to be found the drove of performing hogs, supplemented by a herd of steers that do wonderful feats. To educate a hog to do more than root seems an impossibility, but when one looks these porkers squarely in the eye and sees the cultured expression there he is at once aware of what education can do, even for a hog.

The seals are also artists in their class. They play musical instruments and look with their innocent baby eyes directly into yours. Here are to be found sacred cows, a half dozen of them, and horned horses tied fast to their cages. Ugly brutes, these latter are, and were it not for spoiling the name and leading people to think it an imposition, they should be immediately dehorned.

Several trained elephants will be found tied to stakes near the middle of the tent. The show has a rogue elephant and it is sometimes necessary to resort to heroic treatment in his case.

The street parade will traverse the principal streets of the city in the morning. In the parade will appear about 40 wagons drawn by four, six and eight-horse teams. A large tally-ho, carrying the children who travel with the circus, will be drawn by 20 ponies.

One thing noticeable at the grounds where Robinson's show appears is the courtesy of the employees. Every one is anxious and willing that the spectator shall see it all. "We will employ no one but gentlemen and all our men know it," says one of the managers.

Without doubt the circus is one of the largest and best managed that has visited the city in recent years, and should the day be fair will be viewed by thousands. Two performances will be given beginning at 2 and 8 p. m. respectively.

John Robinson was the Nestor of the show business in America and his circus is always up to date. There were three circuses in East Liverpool last year and many who attended all pronounced Robinson's the best of the lot. It is better and bigger than ever this year, and has been greeted by crowds wherever it has appeared, for its reputation is a known quantity. It will exhibit in Salem Wednesday.

Tented shows, like everything else, have outridden themselves, as it would seem, in their great advance in the direction of the perfect. The circus as we see it today is a dress suit affair by comparison with the homespun outfit of earlier days. Ladies ride bareback horses habited in trailing gowns of silk, and gentlemen in tuxedos and top hats point their toes over the backs of galloping chargers. Clowns are funnier, it would seem, and more refined in their art than ever before, and there is an air of gold braid, good discipline, fine art, excellence and elegance about these affairs of sawdust and canvass that make us almost look for a flooring of silk rugs and opera chairs upholstered in plush, before John Robinson and his fellows have quite finished their determined and daring rivalry.

THE GAME OF POLITICS

ITS DISAPPOINTMENTS OUTNUMBER ITS ATTRACTIONS.

Interesting Observations Called Forth
By Hon. R. W. Tayler's
Withdrawal.

The refusal of R. W. Tayler to again make the race for congress in the Eighteenth district, after having been nominated for the third time, brings into the light of discussion the reasons for his declination and particularly so since Mr. Tayler himself is entirely frank in giving them to the public, says the Toledo Blade.

In speaking of the matter at Cleveland and at his home since Mr. Tayler has said:

"My decision came as the result of long study. After having served several terms in congress, I find myself no better off financially than upon my entrance. It is necessary for myself and my family that I find a more profitable occupation. The man who goes into politics to make money, and is honest, will generally find it a losing game."

There is much food for thought in what Mr. Tayler says; and there are young men, and old ones as well, who might study it with profit. Daniel Webster once said there were but two classes of men who could hope to make politics a business and not work themselves to financial ruin, the rich man and the dishonest man; and being neither, he added, "I am a living example of the statement."

Politics is an alluring and fascinating game and to the man of energy it presents an attractive face. Yet its disappointments outnumber the pleasure of the victories it brings and its financial rewards seldom exceed the expenditures it incurs. The history of the political life of Ohio is strewn with illustrious examples of those whom it has led to financial ruin. Some one once said the governor's chair led to the bankruptcy court, and in a large measure that is true. Governor Foraker declares he left the office depleted in purse and replenished the financial larder only through his law practice afterwards. Governor Campbell went in a wealthy man and came out poor, and the governor's office marked the beginning of the decline in the magnificent fortune of former Secretary Charles Foster. Application to politics afterwards, with the consequent neglect of private business, completed the work.

Here and there the examples of those who, making politics a business, were honest and left the game wealthy, but they attract attention only because of their scarcity and they are exceptions to the rule.

Stripped of its allurements and fascinations and looked at as a cold and simple business proposition there is nothing of attractiveness in the whirligig of politics and the wise man and the man most likely to succeed is he who lets it alone.

SECOND DEFEAT ADMINISTERED

Wheeling Found It Easy to Beat East Liverpool on Saturday.

GOOD PLAYING WAS DONE

But the Visitors Proved Too Strong. Maley at the Start Had the Nail City Boys Guessing, But They Speedily Caught On.

The Wheeling baseball team on Saturday again proved too strong for East Liverpool. The lineup was the strongest this city can afford and the boys individually played a pretty game.

For the first five innings enthusiasm was not high. Just at the time East Liverpool began to gain confidence Wheeling began to play ball in earnest.

Some would say that had it not been for the miserable errors made by Doc Howard, the result would have been different, but a fair judge would not say so. It is true that those errors would have been costly to any team, but under the circumstances surrounding this game the score would have reached figure nearly as large, even if Doc Howard had played an errorless game.

Maley, for one so young, pitched a very creditable game, and for a few instances had the visitors guessing, but when they finally did connect, they pounded the ball in good shape. In that fatal inning, the sixth, they landed on it at will, the result being one three-bagger, three singles and four runs. They had enough then to cinch the game, and their playing during the remainder of the contest was simply to hold the locals down almost to earned runs. However, in the eighth they took another spurt and made it three more. By this time the fans gave it up and were content to sit and watch the visitors handle the ball in true championship style.

Violet, for the visitors, started the game by going out from Maley to first; Cooper from third to first and Huling from short to the same spot. Rrear popped out to first; J. Heckathorn beat the wind and Davis died on a fly to middle. In the second the visitors quit without making much of an effort, while the locals bunched a couple of hits and F. Heckathorn scored. That is, he was credited with a run. The score:

er he really made it according to the rules and regulations governing the game will never be known. The opinions of the fans are about equally divided on the question. Some say that when he slid to the home plate Needham did not touch him with the ball until his hand was hard on the square, and some say he was touched when five feet from the plate. At any rate, the run counted and further argument will avail nothing.

Umpire Clark certainly got all that was coming to him when he made the decision. If it were not that he possesses the nerve of a football player, he would have grabbed his hat and run from the field when the visiting aggregation started at them with fire spouting from their eyes. He stood like the rock of Gibraltar and their threats were warded off like rain drops against a window. It is safe to say that no man in the park was more glad when the game was over than he.

er he really made it according to the rules and regulations governing the game will never be known. The opinions of the fans are about equally divided on the question. Some say that when he slid to the home plate Needham did not touch him with the ball until his hand was hard on the square and some say he was touched when five feet from the plate. At any rate, the run counted and further argument will avail nothing.

Umpire Clark certainly got all that was coming to him when he made the decision. If it were not that he possesses the nerve of a football player, he would have grabbed his hat and run from the field when the visiting aggregation started at them with fire spouting from their eyes. He stood like the rock of Gibraltar and their threats were warded off like rain drops against a window. It is safe to say that no man in the park was more glad when the game was over than he.

LATEST SCHEME FOR CHANGE IN THE LINES OF THE COUNTY

Proposition Broached to Add East Liverpool and Wellsville to Jefferson.

PROMOTER AT STEUBENVILLE

Came From This City, But Got No Substantial Encouragement.

A PRACTICAL IMPOSSIBILITY

Is the Project in the Opinion of Judge Cook, Who Formerly Lived in This County—Nothing Likely to Come of the Talk.

Steubenville, June 9.—(Special)—The latest scheme for changing the county lines of Columbiana county comes from East Liverpool. It is nothing less than a proposition that Columbiana donate the best part of its territory to Jefferson.

Briefly, it is proposed to set off to Jefferson county a portion of Columbiana, small in territory, yet the most populous and valuable which the county contains—in other words, to make East Liverpool and Wellsville Jefferson county cities.

Alluring as is the prospect held out, and glad as Jefferson county would be to see it realized, it cannot be said that the project has received any serious or substantial encouragement here, the people of Steubenville looking upon it as utterly chimerical and impossible of realization.

H. W. Smith, of East Liverpool is either the promoter or the accredited agent of the fathers of the scheme. Lately he spent some time here boozing the project. Naturally the idea was favorably received, though doubt was expressed by every well posted man who was consulted upon it as to its practicability.

Whom Mr. Smith represents besides himself is not very plain. In conversation with leading citizens here he is said to have mentioned the name of one prominent and wealthy citizen of East Liverpool as backing the project, and one only. He is also credited with the statement that ex-Judge P. M. Smith, of Wellsville, is in favor of the proposed change, and willing to do what he can to bring Wellsville and its people into line for it.

One of the first persons approached by Mr. Smith while here was Hon. John M. Cook, circuit judge, a former resident of Columbiana county, where his friends are numerous. He told Mr. Smith that the project was impossible of realization. In order to change county lines a majority of the people of the district affected must vote in favor of the change, and a majority of the people of Columbiana county would never vote to give their best and wealthiest territory to another county. He said: "I have known of the project for some days. Every body in Steubenville and Jefferson county would favor it, if it were practical. The business men of the two cities, whom I know personally, are men of sagacity and business enterprise who have few equals. The citizens generally are intelligent and industrious, and would be valuable additions to our population. East Liverpool and Wellsville would double our Republican majority in the county, and we would certainly welcome them, if they desired to come. But I fear there are too many obstacles in the way."

Hon. R. G. Richards, common pleas judge, said he regarded the proposition very favorably. He predicted that in a few years there would be a continuous city from Mingo to East Liverpool, and pointed out the advantage of having the territory united. Banker D. J. Sinclair, County Commissioner William M. Kerr, County Commissioner Cass M. Brown, D. W. Beall, wholesale merchant; J. W. Gill, of the Acme glass works; Banker H. G. Dohrman, W. M. McD. Miller, attorney for the Steubenville Light and Traction company, were all approached by the News Review correspondent. Very few of them had heard of the scheme until it was unfolded to them by the reporter. They were in favor of it, though a number of them, like Judge Cook, doubted its practicability.

Altogether it cannot be said that the visit of the promoter of this city is likely to be productive of any concerted movement, or of anything more than talk. The reason the proposed change is desired by anybody in East Liverpool and Wellsville, as far as could be learned by those with whom the agent talked while here, is nothing more than the inconvenience of getting from the southern end of Columbiana county to the county seat by railroad. It is hardly likely that county lines will be changed to accommodate the few who make frequent trips to Lisbon, and Jefferson county is not founding on the scheme any high hopes of additions to its population, but looking for them through natural growth and development of its industries.

SWINDLING SCHEME

Clever Solicitors Tried to Work a New Game in East Liverpool Without Success.

During the past week several young strangers for a new business made a canvass of this city. They claimed that for $1 a month a person's clothes would be cleaned, pressed, kept in good condition and all that sort of thing. In fact, the solicitor claimed that he would call for and deliver all work.

From Cleveland comes the story that United States officers and the police of the country generally have commenced a hunt for two clever and accomplished gentlemen who have, within the past six weeks, relieved Cleveland citizens of something like $2,000, Pittsburgh residents of between $4,000 and $5,000, and the inhabitants of a dozen other cities of amounts that can only be guessed at, all without having, as yet, attempted to return value received.

These men claim to be representatives of the National Wardrobe company, but while in this city they secured little if any business. The representatives when they called upon an intended customer held a large bunch of contract cards in their hands, but these were not readily signed here. The men asked that all money be paid in advance, but it is supposed that they have left the city, as they have not been seen recently.

The scheme is described as one of the largest swindling games that has been worked in the country for a long time.

SINGLE TAXERS

Hold a Convention at Columbus And Report Progress in Ohio.

Columbus, June 9.—(Special)—The Single Taxers, of Ohio, about 100 strong, held their sixth annual conference in Columbus Sunday. "Uncle" Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, prominent as a propagandist of the single tax, is president of the league and was one of the speakers. "Uncle" Billy is gifted with a rare sense of humor and always amuses his auditors. The conference elected him to serve as president for another term.

Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland, was invited, but he did not come. His ideas on the single tax question were indorsed by the league. The work of the league for last year was reported satisfactory.

RUMORS OF PEACE

In the Miners' Strike Revived by a Conference Between Mitchell and Wright.

Wilkesbarre, June 9.—(Special)—President Mitchell left here today for New York, where he will meet Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, at the Manhattan hotel. He expects to return to this city tomorrow morning. He went at the request of Mr. Wright, with whom he was in communication today.

Rumors of peace were revived, and for a while they flew thick and fast. Mr. Wright, it is believed, will directly represent President Roosevelt.

ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Begun by a Lisbon Woman Whose Husband Has Left Her.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—Mrs. Mame Sloss, of Lisbon, has instituted an action for divorce against Charles Sloss. They have been married six years, and she claims that he left her five years ago, and since then she has been living with her parents, who have supported her and her six year old child.

She asks for the custody of her child and that her maiden name be restored. Sloss is a painter, and his present whereabouts are unknown.

REUNION IN STEUBENVILLE WISDOM IN SELFISHNESS

Next Year—The Visitors Had a Wet Time of It While Here, But Enjoyed Themselves—Features of the Day at the Park.

The annual reunion of the Knights of the Golden Eagle which was held in this city Saturday was marked by an almost continual downpour of rain. The occasion, of course, will be long remembered by those who attended the outing. The local committee spent much time and money to make the affair what it should be, and while they did all that could possibly be done with this end in view, the elements were against them.

The competitive drill of the several commanderies at the park during the afternoon was one of the brilliant successes of the day, and the several drills was watched with unusual interest by an enormous crowd. The judges of the drill were George O. Anderson, late lieutenant Company E. O. N. G. Dr. E. L. Trimmer, of the Masonic lodge, and Jacob Herman, of the K. of P. lodge.

The first prize, $100, was won by White Star commandery, of Cleveland, and it also received a special prize of $25 for the commandery that came the longest distance. The second prize of $50 was won by Neshannock commandery, of New Castle, Pa. A special prize of $25 was also awarded to this commandery for having the largest percentage of men in line.

The third prize was awarded to Gen. Alex Hays commandery, of Allegheny, which was $25. An additional prize of $25 was awarded this commandery for having the largest number of members present.

Salineville was awarded $25 for having the largest percentage of members in line during the parade, while an award of $25 was made to the Brilliant castle for coming the longest distance according to the number of members in the castle.

At 5:15 a meeting of the committee men of the several castles attending the reunion was held in the pavilion, when it was decided that the reunion next year should be held at Steubenville under the auspices of Jefferson castle, No. 39. This reunion will most likely be held at Stanton park.

Many laughable incidents occurred just before the trains departed from the Second street station Saturday night. The building was crowded; also the covered portions of the platforms. Hundreds of persons were compelled to stand in the hard rain early in the evening. Almost all the trains left on time, but it was after midnight when the train departed for Cleveland, hauling a wet and tired crowd of visiting Eagles and their friends.

The fire works display was not all that was expected, as rain put a stop to it after a few pieces had been set off.

Suit on an Account.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—The Excelsior Seat company, of Columbus, has entered suit against Nathan M. Fuhrman, of Columbiana, to recover $347.42 claimed to be due on an account.

CHOOSING THE DELEGATES TO NAME A CONGRESSMAN

Political Conditions at the Time Will Determine the Method to Be Followed.

ACTION OF OTHER COUNTIES

Will Be Awaited Before the Committee Decides the Question For Columbiana.

NO PRIMARIES NECESSARY HERE

Provided the County Unites on One Candidate—The Phases of the Question And Political Opinion Thereon From Lisbon.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—It is thought that the Republican congressional committee will call a convention to nominate a candidate for congress, to convene the latter part of July. When it has announced the date the county central committee will decide the time and method of choosing the delegates. The political condition here at that time will largely determine the method of electing those from this county.

If Columbiana has several candidates it will probably be necessary to hold a primary election. If it has only one the delegates will probably be elected by townships or county convention, or by appointment by the central committee and instructed for their candidate. In case all who are aspirants withdraw, the delegates to the former congressional convention could be returned or new ones elected and sent uninstructed.

The methods of choosing delegates is a difficult question to decide, as each faction will have its pet scheme.

Clerk McNutt, the chairman of the committee, says that he will appoint a county executive committee of about 12 to decide how the delegates shall be chosen. In the past Stark and Mahoning counties have complained that Columbiana always held its election first and set the pace by instructing its delegates, so that the other counties were compelled to fall in line. This time Clerk McNutt says Columbiana delegates will not be selected until Stark and Mahoning counties have held their elections. In the congressional convention Stark county has 132 delegates, Columbiana 103 and Mahoning 89.

THE DATE FIXED

Congressional Convention to Meet at Opera House at Salem on July 23.

The congressional committee has decided to hold the convention in the opera house at Salem July 23. Hon. R. W. Taylor will be temporary chairman.

MRS. KEPNER'S CASE

Suit Against John R. Martin's Administrators on Trial at Pittsburg.

Lisbon, June 9.—(Special)—The case of Mrs. Anna M. Kepner against the administrators of the estate of ex-Treasurer John R. Martin, comes up for trial at Pittsburg today. Mrs. Kepner is trying to set aside a levy of execution made on property in Pittsburg. The judgment in this case arose from the deficit in the Columbiana county treasury during John R. Martin's term, and was based upon the allegation that Kepner had stolen the money.

The property in Pittsburg was transferred by Kepner to his wife shortly after the proceedings against him were instituted.

Crowded the Church. An interesting Children's Day service was given last evening at the Second and Presbyterian church. The attendance was the largest ever known in the history of the church, many persons not being able to gain admission. The little folks did themselves proud, and each part of the program was quite pleasing.

GOT OFF THE TRACK

Car Derailed Near Thompson's Pottery and Passengers Shaken Up.

With 32 fares registered, and probably 28 passengers on board, car No. 8, of the East Liverpool Street railway, in charge of Motorman Smith and Conductor McArter, west bound, jumped the track as it was rounding the curve about 30 feet west of the sagger shops of the C. C. Thompson pottery about 7:45 last evening. The exact cause may never be known, as the power was shut off from the machines, and from the statement of passengers, the car was not being run at any great speed. But the car went off the track completely. Had it gone a few more inches the line would have been cleared, which would have allowed other cars to pass.

When the car stopped it was about eight feet from the edge of the river bank, but at no time was there any danger of it going over. Considerable glass in the car was broken and the passengers received a severe shaking up, caused by the car running over the ties and two wheels climbing the rails. It was a fortunate accident, as the car just missed striking a trolley wire pole.

CROWDS AT CHURCH

Pastor Orcutt Preached to Tribe of Ben Hur—Children's Day Services.

Large congregations were present at all the services at the Erie street M. E. church yesterday, the morning service being a memorial sermon to the members of the local courts of the Tribe of Ben Hur. In the evening the annual Children's Day service was held. It is estimated that not less than 200 persons were unable to attend the services last evening, the little church being so full that no more could be accommodated. The service was interesting and very entertaining.

LARGE PLANT

Independent Brick Company to Establish Mammoth Works on Beaver River.

The Douglas-Whistler company, of Vanport, which recently disposed of its large fire brick plant located there to the Spear Clay Manufacturing company, of Pittsburgh, has decided to build another plant, which is to be much larger than the one lately disposed of. The plant is to be located on the north side of the Beaver river, opposite Beaver Falls, and a railroad siding has already been laid on the property. The work of excavating for buildings and kilns is also under way.

It is the purpose to put up a plant that will be large in every department and arranged with all modern conveniences. The plant will be equipped with up-to-date machinery for the manufacture of fire, building and paving bricks. It is expected that several months will elapse before the new works will be ready for operation, notwithstanding the fact that no time will be lost in pushing forward the construction work.

THE USEFUL MEN.

Encourage the useful men in the community. Don't start foolish and untruthful stories about them and discourage the work they are doing. If you cannot do anything for the public good yourself, don't discourage those who are willing to give their time and money toward developing the community in which you live.—Atchison Globe.

MILITARY CRIMES.

Hardship and privations do not improve the temper, and insubordination easily supervenes, while the temptation of drink, if it is to be had, is too often irresistible to weak but well meaning men long deprived of such dissipation.

Another fruitful source of transgression which, if we are to trust vague reports, became at times epidemic was the almost natural surrender to physical exhaustion, says Major Arthur Griffiths in The Fortnightly Review. To sleep on sentry is one of the most serious of military crimes. It is inexcusable from the military point of view, for the safety of thousands may hang upon the vigilance of one man, yet the strain of some wearisome, long protracted march or fatiguing operations will sometimes explain what cannot be defended.

Nor can we shut our eyes to possible guilt of a more contemptible, if not more flagrant, kind. Misbehavior before the enemy—cowardice, in plain English—is not absolutely unknown in our or any other army. It is wiser, perhaps, to draw a veil over its exhibition and the punishment that must follow, yet we cannot shut our eyes to the certainty of its occasional occurrence.

THE DIVINITY OF JUSTICE.

The one divine work, the one ordered sacrifice, is to do justice, and it is the last we are ever inclined to do. Anything rather than that; as much charity as you choose, but no justice. "Nay," you will say, "charity is greater than justice." Yes, it is greater; it is the summit of justice; it is the temple of which justice is the foundation. But you can't have the top without the bottom; you cannot build upon charity.

You must build upon justice for this main reason—that you have not at first charity to build with. It is the last reward of good work. Do justice to your brother—you can do that whether you love him or not—and you will come to love him. It is all very fine to think you can build upon charity to begin with, but you will find all you have got to begin with begins at home and is essentially love of yourself.—John Ruskin.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

It Was Preached by the President, at Princeton University—Why Fewer Men Are Educating For the Ministry, Explained by Him.

Princeton, N. J., June 9.—The feature of yesterday's commencement program was the baccalaureate sermon preached by President Patton. The procession of trustees, faculty and members of the senior class formed in front of Nassau hall, and, led by President Patton and ex-President Grover Cleveland, marched to Alexander hall. Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Patton were in the audience.

INTEROCEANIC CANAL BILL.

Expected to Take Up Most of Senate's Time This Week—Forecast of House.

Washington, June 9.—The greater part of the time of the senate the present week will be given to the interoceanic canal bill. An attempt will probably be made by the supporters of the Nicaragua route to secure an agreement to vote on the bill next Saturday, but the probabilities are all against success. Senator Harris, of Kansas, will open the debate today in support of the Nicaragua route, and he will be followed by various other senators for and against the measure. Senator Fairbanks has given formal notice of a speech on Wednesday. He will support the Spooner bill.

Today, in the morning hour, Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, will speak on the bill creating a national park in the southern Appalachian mountains, and, in accordance with the agreement reached Saturday the morning hour of other days will be devoted to consideration of Senator Nelson's bill for the abolition of the London dock charges until a vote shall be taken upon it. Saturday, after 4 o'clock, the senate will listen to eulogies of the character of the late Representative Stokes, of South Carolina. On Friday the nomination of General William Crozier to be chief of the ordnance bureau will be considered in executive session.

PACIFIC CABLE MEASURE.

Also Irrigation Bills Expected to Take Up Most of House's Time.

Washington, June 9.—The house program for this week contemplates consideration of the Pacific cable and the senate irrigation bills, which the rules committee is anxious to have disposed of before the time set for taking up the Philippine government bill. Special rules have been prepared for consideration of both measures. The cable bill will be given two and the irrigation bill three days.

The cable bill provides for an American built and an American laid cable to connect our insular possessions in the Pacific with the Pacific coast. It carries a direct appropriation out of the treasury for this purpose. The prospects for its passage are not considered bright. Mr. Corliss, the author of the bill, professes confidence that it will pass. The opposition to the measure believe the cable to the Philippines should be laid by private enterprise.

Some of the house leaders, including Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, it is understood, will oppose the irrigation bill, but the friends of the measure are very hopeful of its passage. Today is District of Columbia day. All the appropriation bills except the general deficiency, which will not be ready until next week, have passed the house.

VINDICATION FOR DAVIS.

Home Baptist Church Invited Him to Join—Expelled From Another.

Little Rock, Ark., June 9.—Governor Jefferson Davis, Sunday, accepted the invitation of the Baptist church of Russellville, his home, and rejoined that church.

The governor's friends claim this is a vindication of him by his home people against the action of the Second Baptist church of Little Rock in withdrawing fellowship from him. It is alleged further by the governor's friends that the action taken by the Little Rock church was the result of resentment for the part he took in the race for United States senator.

To Select Taylor's Successor.

Youngstown, O., June 9.—The Eighteenth district congressional convention for the selection of a Republican candidate for congress to succeed R. W. Taylor will likely be held at Salem on July 30. Mahoning county, which has not been represented in congress for 25 years, will make an effort to secure the nomination, James Kennedy being the principal choice.

Bill Will Free Rathbone.

Havana, June 9.—The bill granting amnesty to all Americans now in jail or awaiting trial in Cuba was Saturday passed unanimously by the senate. President Palma will sign it. Estes G. Rathbone said: "I am greatly disappointed, for I wanted a new trial before an uninterested court."

Mrs. Margaret Tracy, of No. 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool Ohio, says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells, weak and miserable, could not sleep, and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store. The result was splendid, the medicine built her up, enriched the blood, made the nerves strong, gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect. The old-time languid, play-out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy, and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

The charge is made that Catholicism is being deliberately discriminated against in favor of Protestantism, and that, considering the fact that the Filipinos are a Catholic people, scant recognition has been given representatives of that church in the appointment of teachers and other methods used in teaching the Filipinos.

NEW CHURCH WAS DEDICATED.

Bishop Scannell Officiated at Omaha, Neb.—The Pope Sent a Blessing.

Omaha, Neb., June 9.—With solemn ceremonies the newly constructed church of the Sacred Heart was dedicated Sunday by Bishop Scannell, of this diocese, assisted by Bishop Glennon, of Kansas City; Bishop Spaulding, of Peoria, and a great number of the clergy of the Nebraska churches. Pope Leo XIII sent a special message granting his blessing on the new structure, which was read during the ceremony.

The ceremonies were very imposing and the admission of 1,000 people was by card. Bishop Spaulding delivered the dedicatory sermon.

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by the invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. The latest scheme for changing county lines appears ill-advised as well as impracticable. East Liverpool and Wellsville have reached their present stage of growth and advancement as cities of Columbian county, and such they will remain. The advantages of belonging to Jefferson county are not apparent, except that it is now easier to reach Steubenville than Lisbon by railroad. That is a condition that cannot continue indefinitely, and from present indications, will not continue long. Out of the half dozen schemes that are on foot for connecting East Liverpool and Lisbon by electric and steam railroads, it is not unreasonable to look for the materialization of some one of them at an early date. That result achieved, our own county seat would be nearer and much more accessible than the Jefferson county capital. The practical impossibility of getting the county as a whole to vote to give over its wealthiest and most populous section to another county and another congressional district is enough to put an effectual quietus upon the chimerical idea. The Columbian county citizens who are promoting the scheme—if any considerable number are doing so—would be doing more for their own interests and for the interests of the two cities by working for a new railroad. That is a feasible project; the other is not.

The anti-anarchist bill now before the house touches a question that demands the most careful consideration and prompt and immediate action. The sorrow and shame that an anarchist's deed brought upon the nation only a few months ago are still fresh in the public mind and should furnish all the incentive necessary for the enactment of such a law as shall make attempts upon the lives of officers of the government treasonable acts, and to be punished accordingly. If congress fails to deal a stunning blow to the serpent of anarchy, it will not do its duty.

The popularity of the historical novel—which, by the way, is more novel than historical—is reported on the wane. Well, let it pass and be forgotten. This sort of literature, if literature it could be called, was something of an advance over the dime novel, but moral and mission were equally lacking in both.

The Wellsville and Lisbon road is being improved, and it is the opinion of good judges that the work is being well done. For this relief, much thanks.

For the first time in months the streets of East Liverpool were thoroughly cleaned Saturday night. It was the rain that did it, however.

Is East Liverpool to have a Fourth of July or go visiting on that day? Time we were making up our minds.

The war cloud in the east will probably be of deepest density in the vicinity of Harrisburg, Pa., this week.

It is just as well that the Wheeling base ball team was unable to play more than two games here.

OBITUARY

Jacob S. Kountz.

Jacob S. Kountz, Sr., aged 90 years, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the county, died at his home near Wellsville Sunday morning at 2 o'clock of grip fever and cramps. He was born in Lisbon October 5, 1811, and when but six years of age the family moved to the present residence just outside of the eastern boundary line of the Wellsville city limits.

Early in life Mr. Kountz, in company with his father, John Kountz, started in the yellow ware pottery business on their farm, on which the residence is located, there being a canal passing in front of the pottery at that time by which they shipped most of their ware. Later Mr. Kountz started on the river as captain of a steamer and for years ran between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. Retiring from the river he started a tannery on the farm, which he managed for a number of years and since that time has lived a retired life.

He is a brother of Commodore W. J. Kountz, of Pittsburgh, who is well known throughout the Ohio valley, owning number of river steamers. The following children survive: Hiram A. Kountz, Wellsville; Captain John Kountz, of Bon Homme; S. D., a pilot on the Missouri river; J. S., Jr., who is the proprietor of a Wellsville meat market; Mrs. Mary Smith, of Jefferson county; Mrs. Eliza McGlenen, who kept house for the deceased; Mrs. W. S. Stewart, of Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence, Rev. L. F. Laverty officiating. Interment will be made in the family lot at Spring Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Hugh Sprout.

Mrs. Hugh Sprout, aged about 65 years, died Saturday evening very suddenly at her home in Fairview. She was engaged in milking a cow when she suddenly fell over and died instantly, heart trouble being the cause. She leaves three children, two daughters and one son, her husband having died suddenly years ago. Funeral services were held from the late residence, Rev. Mr. Green officiating, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

Death of an Infant.

A one week old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davidson died at the home of its parents yesterday. The funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, interment being at Riverview cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Weaver.

Mrs. Maria Weaver died Sunday afternoon at her home at Greensburg, Pa. She was 74 years of age, and had been sick for several years. She was a sister of Mrs. Lydia Weaver, of this city.

A Witty Report.

Having once lost a case in New York, Counselor Nolan sadly remarked: "My poor client is little likely to get justice done here until the judgment day."

"Well, counselor," said the court, "I have an opportunity I'll plead for the poor woman myself on that day."

"Your honor," replied Nolan, "will have troubles of your own upon that day."

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE POTTERIES

An eastern trades paper takes the liberty to suggest to the dealers in a town in which a strike is in progress not to countermand their orders. The article says: "Because of present conditions some of those who placed orders for fall delivery are debating whether or not they shall countermand their purchases. In fact, one or two have already done so. This is a mistake. By the time the goods are here the strike will be over and they will be wanted. The miners will have money to spend for the holidays, as they are people who make much of that season, coming largely from countries where for ages the Christmas gift is regarded with more sanctity than it is in this land. They will deny themselves necessities that tokens of remembrance may be made. The fact that the miners have every little money now is one of the very reasons why they will not be able to keep up the strike for a long time. That they have no money is because they are good spenders, and as soon as they get to work again they will begin buying."

More trouble is on at the Equitable pottery, at Trenton, and the Brotherhood will be asked to settle the dispute. It is alleged that one of the bench bosses had been receiving $5 a week more wages than he should and that a portion of this amount is being taken from the other kilnmen.

Miss Alice Hendricks, who has been employed in the warehouse department of the United States pottery at Wellsville, has resigned her position, obtained a withdrawal card from local No. 62, and within a few days goes to the country, where she will remain during the summer.

The stockholders of the American Porcelain company, of New Brighton, at a recent meeting increased the capital stock of the company to $100,000 from $50,000. The plant, it is said, will be enlarged, practically doubling its capacity.

The new plant of the East Ohio Sewer Pipe company, at Ironton, is about completed. Practically all the machinery has been installed and the new plant has a combined area of 135,000 square feet.

William Mayer, who has been employed as a dipper and kilnman at the D. E. McNicol pottery for several years, has resigned his position at that plant, and is now at the Laughlin No. 2.

The moulds for the new pottery being built at Crooksville, O., are now being made, and it is the intention of the company to place the plant in operation early in August.

It is said a new sewer pipe factory is to be established at Clarksburg, W. Va. Ohio manufacturers of this article are said to be interested in the project.

The strike of some of the boys in the Wheeling pottery has been settled. The dispute was not with the firm, but with some of the workmen.

It is likely that a local will be formed at Trenton, the members of which will be from the packing and warehouse departments.

Near Hamilton, Ont., the William News' pottery was damaged by fire recently to the extent of several thousand dollars.

John E. Boulton, who has been dipping at Laughlin No. 1, started at the McNicol plant this morning. He resides in Chester.

William Swindells, boss packer at the C. C. Thompson pottery, left Saturday afternoon for Cambridge Springs, Pa., where he will remain several weeks for the benefit of his health. He was accompanied on the trip by B. C. Simms, of the Thompson company. Mr. Simms will remain at Cambridge Springs for several weeks.

The recent meeting of warehouse women's local No. 63 was quite an interesting one. Only one new member was obligated, although a number of applications have been presented to the local. The local elected Mrs. May Davis to the vacant chair of recording secretary, caused by the death of Miss Belle Gallagher.

Enoch Mountford, aged 64 years, one of the oldest employees of the Greenwood pottery at Trenton, is dead. He came from England about 35 years ago and will be buried from his home tomorrow. He was known to a number of persons in this city, who have been employed in the Trenton potteries.

When Congressman Tayler was a resident of this city and before he had any high political ambitions he was employed in the Trenton potteries.

"Well, counselor," said the court, "I have an opportunity I'll plead for the poor woman myself on that day."

"Your honor," replied Nolan, "will have troubles of your own upon that day."

WELLSVILLE

DISTURBED SUNDAY QUIET

Three Drunks Run In For Actions on
Wellsboro Streets.

Three plain drunks were ushered into the Wellsboro bastille by Officers Davis and Elliott and Chief Thorpe. Two of the men gave their residing place as "down yon r," and the third was a well known Wellsboro colored man, better known as George.

All three had partaken too freely of "the cup that cheers" and Sunday morning started out in a one-horse rig and traveled all over the streets of the town, demonstrating the fact that they were drunk by their loud talk.

They were warned several times to leave the streets, but paid no attention, and were finally landed in jail. George, who was not so much intoxicated as the others, gave security for his appearance and was released on his promise to leave the streets and sober up.

All will be given a hearing today before the mayor, and will probably be compelled to pay the customary $4.60 for their good time.

Winning Her Papa.
She—When you go to ask papa, the first thing he will do will be to accuse you of seeking my hand merely to become his son-in-law.

He—Yes? And then—

And then you must agree with him. He's a lot prouder of himself than he is of me."

The Chief End.
"What?" inquired the student. "do you regard as the chief end of man?" "Well," answered the professor, "it depends upon what you want the man for. If you want him to do brain work it's his head, and if you want him to run errands it's his feet."

It occurs to every one some time that he is not living up to his ideal of himself.—Atchison Globe.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Talking Birds.

It is not a little singular that while the so called dumb animals have all some language of their own, a method by which each species can hold converse with its kind, it is in the feathered world alone that we find any creatures capable of being taught to use the speech of man. Certain birds not only are capable of producing articulate words and sentences, but it would appear from many well authenticated instances as if they possess in some measure the reasoning faculty which enables them to apply their acquired art of speech with peculiar aptitude.

The raven, the jackdaw, the magpie, and the jay may all be trained to imitate sounds and to utter words and even sentences distinctly, but more familiar to most people are talking birds of the parrot tribe, which acquire the gift of speech in far greater perfection than any other of their species.

The voice of the parrot is also much more human in its tones. The raven is too hoarse, the jay and the magpie are too shrill, but there are modifications in the parrot's notes when speaking that are sometimes absolutely uncanny in their weird resemblance to the "human voice divine." This superiority is due to the construction of its beak, its tongue and head. The parrot, too, has a wonderful memory and rarely forgets what it has once thoroughly learned.—Our Young Folk.

Oil Field Operations.

The tools which have been stuck in the Leisure well on the Penny farm in Grant district were extracted from the well yesterday, and the lower casing is now being placed in the hole. The well is expected in within the week. The new well that is being drilled on the White Hill farm adjoining the Carson farm in the Turkeyfoot territory will be finished tomorrow. The well, it is thought, will be a good producer, and not less than 10 barrels a day are expected.

Children's Day at Fairview.

Children's day exercises will be given at the Fairview Christian church next Sunday and a fine program has been arranged for the occasion. It has been so arranged that each and every pupil of the Sunday school will take some part.

CHESTER NOTES.

Mrs. E. D. Reed, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today visiting friends.

Ruth Baxter went to Fairview yesterday to spend a week with friends and relatives.

The salary of the postmaster at New Cumberland has been increased from $1,700 to $1,800 a year.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening in their hall on Fairview street.

A new conductor on the Rock Springs line by the name of Smith resigned his position yesterday and returned to his home in Beaver Falls.

Miss Minnie Simpson, who has been visiting at the home of her brother, William Simpson, for the past few months, left on Saturday evening, via Cleveland, for her home in Standish, Mich.

The South Avenue M. E. church, at Wilkinsburg, Pa., a suburb of the "Smoky City," will hold a picnic to-morrow at Rock Springs park. Only one train will be necessary to carry the crowd expected.

MORMON ELTERS LEAVE

Two Who Have Worked Here For Some Time Have Departed.

Two Mormon elders who have been doing missionary work in this city for the past few weeks, have left and are now located at Cleveland. The elders came here from Cincinnati, and have been working in and about the city for some time. A few days ago, one of the elders, S. E. Hill, of Salt Lake City, was taken ill and was accompanied to Cleveland by another elder named T. M. Woodman. When Woodman was asked when he expected to return to this section and the result of their work while they have been in this city, he did not care to express an opinion.

When Dolly's papa asked her one day what was worse than a giraffe with a sore throat, after several moments' serious thought the youngster replied warily that she did not "keraztak know."

"Why," explained her father, "a centipede with chilblains!"

That the humor sank deep into the child's mind was amusingly evidenced a week later. Taken to the Natural History museum, Dolly stood in awe wonder before the ostrich exhibit while her elder read aloud the description appended.

Upon hearing that an ostrich pos-sesed six stomachs, quick as a flash Dolly interrupted excitedly:

"Now I can tell papa what's worse than a giraffe with a sore throat or a centipede with chilblains—it's an ostrich with a stomach ache!" —New York Herald.

Before Your Eyes.

A recent biographer of Carlyle states that when he was writing his history of the French revolution it was his habit to paste on a screen in his workshop engraved portraits or woodcuts. If no better could be had, of the people about whom he was writing. The image of the man was thus steadily in his view. Carlyle held that an author must have a clear image of his subject in his mind; otherwise he could not make it clear to the reader.

Here is a significant hint to school boys and girls who are expected to express their ideas in compositions or sayings.—Youth's Companion.

His First Day at School.

A pair of mittens, warm and red; New shoes that had shiny toes; A velvet cap for his curly head; And a tie of palest rose; A bag of books, a twelve inch rule; And the daintiest hands in town—These were the things that went to school With William Herbert Brown.

A ragged mitten without a thumb.

Two shoes that were scorched at the toes; A head that whirled with a dizzy hum Since the snowball hit his nose; A stringless bag and a broken rule; And the dinglest hands in town—These were the things that came from school With happy Billy Brown.

—St. Nicholas.

The Word "Woebegone."

The word "woebegone" is an interesting survival of the far past. "Begone" here represents the past participle of the Anglo-Saxon verb "began," to go round about, a word which has otherwise entirely disappeared from our vocabulary, but which has its analogies in such verbs as "beset" and "begird," in which the prefix "be" represents the modern preposition "by." A woebegone countenance is thus that of a man compassed about with woe, though perhaps it is most generally used in a somewhat slighting manner as greater than the circumstances warrant. Thus it has partially undergone the same process of degeneration which has made "maudlin tears" — original tears of penitence from Mary Magdalene—bear a contemptuous meaning.

European Coins.

The standard coins on the continent are: In France, the franc; in Spain, the peseta; in Italy, the lira; in Holland and Austria, the florin; in Germany, the mark; in Russia, the ruble.

Belgium and Switzerland use the French name for the piece of 20 sous. Each of these pieces is, like the American dollar, divided into 100 parts, called kopeck in Russia, pfennig in Germany, kreuzer in Austria, cent in Holland, and in Italy, France and Spain by the word meaning hundredth.

KING ATTENDED IN LONDON.

Accompanied by the Queen—Princes

Paul's Cathedral.

London, June 9.—The noisy jubilation with which London has resounded for the last week was succeeded yesterday by more subdued, although not less impressive, public demonstrations of thankfulness for the return of peace in South Africa.

The thanksgiving exercises held in London yesterday were typical of the services held throughout the empire, but the presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal devotional services in London, and the progress of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's cathedral through cheering thousands of British subjects and visitors in London gave the thanksgiving day in the metropolis the added feature of a notable historic occasion.

The king and queen were joined at the cathedral by the Prince and Princess of Wales and many other distinguished personages.

Presented Sword of City.

The king's carriage was stopped when it reached the city officials, who were waiting at Temple Bar, and the lord mayor of London, Sir Joseph Dimondale, presented the sword of the city to his majesty and uttered a formal welcome. The king returned the sword, bowed and simply re-

CIRCUS TOMORROW

Robinson's Big Show Will Be Here,
Bigger and Better Than Ever.

A WONDERFUL MENAGERIE

And Ring Performances of the Highest
Merit—Everything Up-to-Date And the Best to Be Had—Some Noteworthy Features.

John Robinson's big show will be in town tomorrow and West End park will be converted into a tented city. The show is a great enterprise. Over 500 people travel with it. It is strong in its circus features and has one of the best traveling menageries in America.

Animals from every quarter of the globe are represented. There is a polar bear to delight the small boy who has read wonderful stories of this animal in its haunts beyond the northern lights. There are real live tigers, a whole cage full of them, fresh from the jungles of India where their ancestors have supped on many a luckless native. And lions, baby lions and some that are not babies. One big fellow stands and looks out the bars of his cage as if trying to determine something of his surroundings and then lies down to the dream of his native Africa and the happy days of his youth before he became a circus lion. This lion eats 15 pounds of western beef steak for his dinner every day. What a blow to the beef trust if he should die!

To enter into detail and describe every animal would require too much time, but the animals are numerous and fine representatives of their classes.

Outside the menagerie is to be found the drove of performing hogs, supplemented by a herd of steers that do wonderful feats. To educate a hog to do more than root seems an impossibility, but when one looks these porkers squarely in the eye and sees the cultured expression there he is at once aware of what education can do, even for a hog.

The seals are also artists in their class. They play musical instruments and look with their innocent baby eyes directly into yours. Here are to be found sacred cows, a half dozen of them, and horned horses tied fast to their cages. Ugly brutes, these latter are, and were it not for spoiling the name and leading people to think it an imposition, they should be immediately dehorned.

Several trained elephants will be found tied to stakes near the middle of the tent. The show has a rogue elephant and it is sometimes necessary to resort to heroic treatment in his case.

The street parade will traverse the principal streets of the city in the morning. In the parade will appear about 40 wagons drawn by four, six and eight-horse teams. A large tally-ho, carrying the children who travel with the circus, will be drawn by 20 ponies.

One thing noticeable at the grounds where Robinson's show appears is the courtesy of the employees. Every one is anxious and willing that the spectator shall see it all. "We will employ no one but gentlemen and all our men know it," says one of the managers.

Without doubt the circus is one of the largest and best managed that has visited the city in recent years, and should the day be fair will be viewed by thousands. Two performances will be given beginning at 2 and 8 p. m. respectively.

John Robinson was the Nestor of the show business in America and his circus is always up to date. There were three circuses in East Liverpool last year and many who attended all pronounce Robinson's the best of the lot.

It is better and bigger than ever this year, and has been greeted by crowds wherever it has appeared, for its reputation is a known quantity. It will exhibit in Salem Wednesday.

Tented shows, like everything else, have outrivaled themselves as it would seem, in their great advance in the direction of the perfect. The circus as we see it today is a dress suit affair by comparison with the homespun outfit of earlier days. Ladies ride bareback horses habited in trailing gowns of silk, and gentlemen in tuxedos and top hats point their toes over the backs of galloping chargers. Clowns are funnier, it would seem, and more refined in their art than ever before, and there is an air of gold braid, good discipline, fine art, excellence and elegance about these affairs of sawdust and canvas that make us almost look for a flooring of silk rugs and opera chairs upholstered in plush, before John Robinson and his fellows have quite finished their determined and daring rivalry.

THE GAME OF POLITICS

ITS DISAPPOINTMENTS OUTNUMBER ITS ATTRACTIONS.

Interesting Observations Called Forth
By Hon. R. W. Tayler's
Withdrawal.

The refusal of R. W. Tayler to again make the race for congress in the Eighteenth district, after having been nominated for the third time, brings into the light of discussion the reasons for his declination and particularly so since Mr. Tayler himself is entirely frank in giving them to the public, says the Toledo Blade.

In speaking of the matter at Cleveland and at his home since, Mr. Tayler has said:

"My decision came as the result of long study. After having served several terms in congress, I find myself no better off financially than upon my entrance. It is necessary for myself and my family that I find a more profitable occupation. The man who goes into politics to make money, and is honest, will generally find it a losing game."

There is much food for thought in what Mr. Tayler says; and there are young men, and old ones as well, who might study it with profit. Daniel Webster once said there were but two classes of men who could hope to make politics a business and not work themselves to financial ruin, the rich man and the dishonest man; and being neither, he added, "I am a living example of the statement."

Politics is an alluring and fascinating game and to the man of energy it presents an attractive face. Yet its disappointments outnumber the pleasure of the victories it brings and its financial rewards seldom exceed the expenditures it incurs. The history of the political life of Ohio is strewn with illustrious examples of those whom it has led to financial ruin. Some one once said the governor's chair led to the bankruptcy court, and in a large measure that is true. Governor Foraker declares he left the office depleted in purse and replenished the financial larder only through his law practice afterwards. Governor Campbell went in a wealthy man and came out poor, and the governor's office marked the beginning of the decline in the magnificent fortune of former Secretary Charles Foster. Apply to politics afterwards, with the consequent neglect of private business, completed the work.

Politics is an alluring and fascinating game and to the man of energy it presents an attractive face. Yet its disappointments outnumber the pleasure of the victories it brings and its financial rewards seldom exceed the expenditures it incurs. The history of the political life of Ohio is strewn with illustrious examples of those whom it has led to financial ruin. Some one once said the governor's chair led to the bankruptcy court, and in a large measure that is true. Governor Foraker declares he left the office depleted in purse and replenished the financial larder only through his law practice afterwards. Governor Campbell went in a wealthy man and came out poor, and the governor's office marked the beginning of the decline in the magnificent fortune of former Secretary Charles Foster. Maley at the Start Had the Nail City Boys Guessing, But They Speedily Caught On.

The Wheeling baseball team on Saturday again proved too strong for East Liverpool. The lineup was the strongest this city can afford and the boys individually played a pretty game.

For the first five innings enthusiasm was not high. Just at the time East Liverpool began to gain confidence Wheeling began to play ball in earnest.

Some would say that had it not been for the miserable errors made by Doc Howard, the result would have been different, but a fair judge would not say so. It is true that those errors would have been costly to any team, but under the circumstances surrounding this game the score would have reached a figure nearly as large, even if Doc Howard had played an errorless game.

Maley, for one so young, pitched a very creditable game, and for a few innings had the visitors guessing, but when they finally did connect, they pounded the ball in good shape. In that fatal inning, the sixth, they landed on it at will, the result being one three-bagger, three singles and four runs. They had enough then to cinch the game, and their playing during the remainder of the contest was simply to hold the locals down almost to earned runs. However, in the eighth they took another spurt and made it three more. By this time the fans gave it up and were content to sit and watch the visitors handle the ball in true championship style.

Maley, for the visitors, started the game by going out from Maley to first; Cooper from third to first and Huling from short to the same spot. Rerk popped out to first; J. Heckathorn beat the wind and Davis died on a fly to middle. In the second the visitors quit without making much of an effort, while the locals bunched a couple of hits and F. Heckathorn scored. That is, he was credited with a run. Whether
